Mother Earth May Defy Skill and
Strategy of Indiana State Library
Heroic Efforts

EARTH SLIDE IS FEARED

From 6 to 21 Bodies may be Buried,
Making Recovery From Sullivan
Mine Impossible

50 TRAPPED IN EXPLOSION

Sixteen Bodies had been Hoisted to
Surface at 7 O'clock—Earth
Sinking Rapidly

BULLETIN

At the Mouth of City Mine, Sullivan, Ind., Feb. 21—The body of the seventeenth victim of the 51 miners trapped in City mine by an explosion yesterday noon, was brought to the surface today.

This leaves thirty-four bodies yet to be recovered and whose removal is still a matter of speculation due to a reported "squeeze," or sliding of the earth.

Rescue workers are laboring feverishly in a supreme effort to get to the men.

Russel Garby was the seventeenth brought from the mine. Rescue men with gas masks from Vincennes, went to entry No. 3 in an effort to remove the bodies of twenty men, believed to have been trapped in that section of the mine.

First efforts of the rescue workers were attempted to force air in to entry 3.

Air is the main factor today. No more shovelling work is needed. Crowds are being kept back away from the mouth in order that all the air possible can be forced down into the mine.

"We need air and lots of it," was the only statement, Inspector Daily would make.

At Mouth of City Mine, Sullivan, Ind., Feb. 21—Mother earth may defy the skill and strategy of Indiana's best trained mine safety experts in their heroic efforts to bring to the surface the remaining 34 bodies of the fifty miners trapped in this mine yesterday by an explosion.

Sixteen bodies had been hoisted to the top at 7 o'clock this morning.

Rescue workers coming to the surface early today expressed fear of a "squeeze" in rooms three and four off the north end. They say that if this is true, anywhere from six to twenty-one bodies will be buried in the slide of earth.

This report tended to speed up rescue work, men racing with time to carry out the remaining thirty-four bodies from the west entry rooms.

There is no question but what all men are dead. S. J. Wilton, deputy state mine inspector said this morning that no one could possibly be alive.

A "squeeze" following an explosion is a sinking of the earth and all man power cannot check its course. It is reported to be sinking one inch per hour. In this section of the mine rooms are but four feet ten inches high.

The mine was cleared of all men at 6 o'clock last evening for a test.

Most of Bodies Recovered Had Their Arms Upraised

Sullivan, Ind., Feb. 21—Bodies of most of the miners taken from the City mine thus far had their arms upraised and hands pressed tightly across the eyes and forehead.

This position, held even in the rigor of death, indicated the efforts of the trapped men to shield themselves from the deadly gasses that followed the explosion.

O. C. Thomas, weigh-master, stood at the entrance of the mine as the bodies were taken from the lift, resolutely facing the grim task of prying down the stiff arms to identify the dead.

The elbows and forearms of some of the dead were terribly torn and lacerated, indicating they had made a frantic effort to crawl to safety in the pitch darkness following the blast.

Three Fathers and Sons Perish in Mine Disaster

Sullivan, Ind., Feb. 21—Three fathers and their sons who worked side by side in the City coal mine perished in Friday's disaster.

The body of Pearl Hawhee, 47, remains in the mine. That of his son, Frank Hawhee, 18, has been recovered.

Florence Leaque, a Frenchman, and his son, Emil Leaque, both were killed.

The body of Philip Walkers, 54, for twenty years a miner, has been recovered but that of his son Wayne Walkers, 20, has not been recovered.

of air to be taken It was four hours before rescuers again went into the shaft. They reappeared explaining that they could only go 700 feet back due to gas conditions.

When the next body will be hoisted to the top is a question of time. It may be momentarily or it may be late today—or it may never be, if all the bodies lie in the section affected by the "squeeze."

T. O. Thomas, check weighman at the mine, said this morning that if all men were in their right positions at the time of the disasters, 21 would be affected by the "squeeze" and 13 would be scattered in other sections of the mine and thus, the recovery of their bodies more probable.

Although Inspector Wilton refused to comment on any possible "squeeze" he did report numerous rock, slate and dirt falls which would delay rescuers reaching the bodies.

It took two hours, according to Wilton, to re-route the rescuers in their "crawl" through the mine. The men are forced to push air before them. As they advance 45 feet they return 45 feet and "battish" up cross entries to keep the air from crossing over, thus forcing it ahead.

76 Children, 44 Widows

Sullivan, Ind., Feb. 21—Seventy six children and forty-four widows are known to be survivors of the fifty one miners dead. A record compiled by the mine's check weighman, showed that only seven of the dead were single men.

Frank Smith, one of the victims is reported as leaving a widow and ten children. Parry Maxwell, another victim, leaves a widow and six children.

of them. This work is slow and tedious. Two rescue teams of six men each are relieved every two hours by fresh teams.

A cool, drizzling rain added to the misery of relatives of the dead, who refused to retire from their posts as men worked on throughout the night, which seemed ages to these relatives, many of whom were aged women and children, grouped about the entry shaft of the mine every time the cage was hoisted to the top—hoping against hope that it would be their husband, father or son alive.

One hundred and thirty-five men went into the mine to work at 7 o'clock Friday morning. The explosion occurred shortly before noon. Eighty four men, many bleeding at the nose and black in the face, crawled up the air shaft within an half hour after the explosion. Medical attention was needed for these men. Bleeding of the nose was caused by the men sticking two fingers up their nose as far as possible to keep out the gas that threatened them as they slowly climbed the ladder, falling exhausted to the ground, one at a time.

The first injured man brought to the top was Emery Davidson. He received serious injuries when caught by falling slate near the front of the mine. He is resting well in a local hospital and will probably recover.

Check-weighman Thomas and Inspector Wilton in a final check this morning of those in the mine, said they knew 34 bodies remaining in the mine, which disputes reports, carried by other news agencies other than the United Press that the dead is 51.

SPECIAL JUDGE HEARS CHILD POSSESSION CASE

Further Evidence Given in Suit of
Clyde Merritt Against His Wife,
Hazel Merritt

WERE REFUSED A DIVORCE

Judge Fred Hines of Noblesville was here today acting as special judge in the hearing of further evidence in the case of Clyde Merritt against Hazel Merritt.

The action is a complaint for possession of a child, and grows out of an alleged family controversy in which a divorce suit was heard several months ago and refused. The special judge heard a portion of the evidence some time ago, and came here this morning to conduct a further hearing in the matter before rendering a decision.

The plaintiff is seeking possession of the child, charging that his wife and the home surroundings at her home are not the proper conditions to rear a child. Both sides were putting up a strong fight for the possession of the child, and the case was attracting considerable attention in court.

JUDGE A. R. ROBINSON TO TALK

Indianapolis Man to Speak at Masonic Banquet Thursday

Members of Phoenix lodge No. 62, Free and Accepted Masons, have received postal card announcements of a banquet and social gathering to be held at the Masonic Temple here next Thursday evening.

The main event of the evening will be an address by Arthur R. Robinson of Indianapolis, a superior court judge, who is well known in Rushville. He is a very talented speaker and local Masons regard it as fortunate to be able to have him for the meeting.

The banquet will be served by members of Martha Poe chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

Each Miner's Dependents Will Receive Over $4,000

Sullivan, Ind., Feb. 21—Each family or group of dependents of miners who died in the City mine explosion Friday will receive $3,960 and $100 for funeral expense.

This was announced today by representatives of the operators' mutual insurance association. The disaster will probably cost the association $200,000, it was estimated.

WANT TO KNOW HOW MONEY IS SPENT

Motive Ascribed for Investigation of
Three State Departments by
Legislators

SENTIMENT IS DIVIDED

Some Disagreement as to Advisability of Efficacy of Inquiries of This Sort

(Special to The Daily Republican)
Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 21—The spectacular in the Indiana legislative is now centered around the investigations being made by subcommittees into the financial affairs of three important branches of the state government.

This legislative inquiry is centering on the state highway commission, the biggest money spending agency in the state government, the Indiana reformatory for which $3,000,000 has been appropriated in the last four years, and the public service commission, which always comes in for its share of probing by the assembly.

All of these investigations are being made in connection with the appropriation measure. Desire on the part of members of the finance committees of both branches to have a thorough knowledge of the way these important branches of the state government spend their money has been one of the motives ascribed for the probes.

Sentiment in the legislature is divided on the advisability or efficacy of legislative investigations of this nature. Those who oppose them take the position the assembly is not in session long enough to make a thorough investigation. In addition it is pointed out if there is anything irregular in any of the departments this will be discovered by the board of accounts and action can be taken in the courts.

Notwithstanding this divided sentiment there has been no effort to curb the investigations. On the contrary they have been permitted to go forward even at the expense of delaying the advance of the appropriation measure, the most important bill before the session.

One of the important phases of the investigation directed at the highway commission is that no trace of suspicion has been unearthed about the road construction and maintenance divisions of this department. Nearly all the highway funds, more than $10,000,000 annually, are spent for construction.

WASHINGTON AND HIS COUNTRY TO BE TOPIC

The Rev. Gibson Wilson Will Preach
Birthday Anniversary Sermon at
First Presbyterian Church

TO SHOW HIM AS CHRISTIAN

"Washington and His Country" will be the subject of the sermon at the First Presbyterian Church, Sunday night by the pastor, Rev. Gibson Wilson. The appropriateness of this subject is in the fact that Sunday, the 22nd, is the anniversary day of his birth.

There were many qualities in Washington which should be emulated today, it is pointed out. He is known as President, general and sometimes as a farmer, but the speaker will permit him as a great Christian statesman, a man of prayer, greatly interested in the church and faithful upon its attendance.

February 15 to 22 is known in the church as Sacrificial Loyalty Week. The people have been given envelopes in which they will place their special offerings to the work of the church. Last year this offering amounted to over $800,000 throughout the denomination, in addition to the regular giving.

The subject of the morning sermon will be "The Unsearchable Riches of Christ."

MONDAY A NATIONAL HOLIDAY

Monday will be observed as a national holiday here on account of Washington's birthday falling on Sunday.

The customary holiday rules will be observed at the postoffice. There will be no regular city or rural route deliveries of mail, but specials and perishables will be delivered in the city. The windows at the postoffice will be open until ten o'clock in the morning.

There will be no special recognition of the event otherwise, except reference to the occasion in the schools. The banks will be closed, but other business will be on as usual.

AGAINST E. H. MORRIS

The Swine Pure Breeders Serum company was awarded judgment in the sum of $992.35 against Elbert H. Morris in circuit court on February 2, instead of against Charles E. Morris, his father, as stated in the Republican. The suit was originally filed against the elder Morris, but was dismissed as to him and his son was made defendant.

FOR CHARLOTTESVILLE ROBBERY

Lawrence Hurd, Convicted at Greencastle, Awaits Sentence

(By United Press)

Greenfield, Ind., Feb. 21—Lawrence Hurd, of Bailey's Switch, Kentucky, was awaiting sentence today on conviction in circuit court here of robbing the State bank at Charlottesville last April.

Warrants for the arrest of Marion, Sally, Martha and John Hurd, relatives of the convicted man, have been sworn out, charging perjury.

LOCAL DELEGATION GOES ON GYM JAUNT

School Board Members, City Officials and Others Inspect Several Gymnasiums Friday

PLAN A NEW BUILDING HERE

Aim is to Profit by Mistakes of Other
Cities, Whose Gyms Are All Too
Small

School board members, city officials and others of this city, made an excursion Friday into the southwestern part of the state, inspecting gymnasiums that have been constructed recently, with the purpose in view of obtaining plans for building one in Rushville this summer.

The gymnasiums visited and inspected by the local people were at Shelbyville, Franklin, Martinsville, Bloomington and Columbus, and at each place the delegation was shown through, given suggestions and the mistakes made in building were pointed out.

Although no definite plan has been made here concerning the building of a gymnasium, yet it is expected that definite steps will be taken within ten days, and a plan decided upon concerning the financing of the affair, and the amount of money that is to be spent on the gymnasium.

The building to be built will no doubt be patterned after some of the leading gymnasiums. During the trip Friday, notes were made at each place concerning the mistakes made in building that particular building, and an effort here will be made to overcome all mistakes, and profit by the errors made by others.

In nearly every instance, the greatest mistake made, was the building was not large enough to accommodate the crowds. This was particularly true at Shelbyville, Franklin and Columbus. All three of these cities have fine buildings, but they have outgrown their capacity within the short space of time that they have been erected.

At Shelbyville, the seating capacity is only 1,960 although the playing floor is excellent, and the building a modern structure. It is not near large enough to accommodate the crowds during a game between Shelbyville and a strong opponent. Tim Campbell, the coach, advised right at the start, to build the gym at Rushville large enough to meet all future needs.

At Franklin the seating capacity is greater than that at Shelbyville, but there is often time a demand for more seats than they have, and the advice here also was to build for the future.

Over at Martinsville, the population of the city is 4,980. Every citizen of the city could be placed comfortably in the new gym. It seats 5,200. The fact that it is larger than the city's population, only shows the increasing demand for larger gymnasiums. It is true, the place is not filled at every game, but when such teams as Shelbyville and Shortridge bring more than 1,000 rooters with them, there is a place to accommodate them, and the additional size doesn't cost much more, and pays out quicker.

In all of the gyms visited, the one at Martinsville seemed to make a better impression than any other. The goal for one in Rushville to seat 5,000 people is to be launched. With a strong schedule of neighboring cities, hundreds will come, and it also provides a building suitable for handling a district convention or gathering of large size.

At Martinsville, it is not a gymnasium alone. It is adjacent to the high school building. The 5,200 seats

BANK TO OCCUPY NEW HOME MONDAY

Rush County National to Move on National Holiday, Without Interference With Business

BUILDING IS COMPLETED

Brick Structure, With Indiana Limestone Trim, Has all Facilities of Modern Bank

The Rush County National bank will move into its new building at the southwest corner of Main and Second streets Monday and will be ready for business on Tuesday.

The complete new banking and business building, which was designed by McGuire and Shook, architects, of Indianapolis, has been under construction since last summer, and for the last several weeks the finishing touches have been given the interior. It takes the place of the building that burned on the same site January 25, 1924.

On account of Monday being observed as a holiday, due to Washington's birthday on Sunday, the bank will move into its new home without any interference with business.

The building is forty by eighty-five feet, with two stories and a basement, and is designed along colonial lines. The structure is of brick exterior with an Indiana limestone trim.

The interior of the bank is reached through a pair of heavy bronze doors opening into a vestibule which is trimmed in mahogany. The vestibule leads into a spacious center lobby flanked by office spaces and with an office screen on each side. The lobby also contains two attractively designed check desks with bronze lighting reflectors and fittings.

The lobby is closed on one end by mahogany and plate glass screen fitted with a bronze gate and automatic lock protecting the passage to the bank vault. To the rear of this screen is found a passageway leading to the customers rooms, directors room and the massive vault which came through the fire in splendid condition. A well appointed private consultation room is provided at the front, just off the lobby, and there is also a private telephone booth and ladies rest room.

A business room is situated at the rear of the building, opening in Second street, and the second story is occupied by splendid office suites with all of the modern service facilities.

The general interior scheme of the woodwork is brown mahogany and the general bank fittings and light fixtures are of bronze. Draperies are of heavy Monks cloth and the room is decorated in monotonous of harmonizing color.

The Rush County National bank was organized as a national bank in 1871, succeeding the Rush County Banking company, with the following men as directors:

Oliver Posey, Edward H. M. Berry, Jacob H. Oglesby, Leonidas Sexton and Lewis Maddux. Mr. Posey was the first president and James H. Lakin was the first cashier.

Mr. Lakin resigned as cashier January 1, 1873 and John Megee was appointed to take his place. Mr. Megee held the position until January 10, 1882, when he retired and W. A. Posey was appointed.

Two years later, January 8, 1884, Oliver Posey resigned as president and W. A. Posey also quit as cashier, his position being taken by E. D. Pugh.

L. Link succeeded Mr. Posey as president and has been at the head of the bank ever since. Mr. Pugh remained in the capacity of cashier until July 1, 1907, when L. M. Sexton, the present cashier, was appointed and has been serving continuously in this position since that time.

The officers of the bank at the present time are: L. Link, president; Claude Cambern, vice president; L. M. Sexton, cashier; H. C. Flint, teller; Bertha Blount, Paul Newhouse and Eugene Kelley, bookkeepers.

The directors are: L. Link, Claude Cambern, Will M. Sparks, A. L. Riggs, J. C. Sexton, Frank Wilson and L. M. Sexton.

The contractors were as follows: M. M. Winship and Beale Bros. of Rushville for the building construction and plumbing, heating construction

"There's a Week's Work of Fencing—Done in a Day"

A good many of our customers have made that very remark after they tried out the Red Top Steel Fence Post.

For instance, you can drive over 200 of these posts in a day without a helper. Some have driven as high as 300. The One-Man Driver makes this possible. What a difference from the old back-breaking method of setting wood posts. No post hole digging and no tamping with Red Tops. This saving on labor costs makes the price on Red Tops installed very low.

That's not the only saving you'll make. One Red Top will outlast at least two wood posts. And there is very little fence repair work required with Red Tops. The Handy Fence Fasteners which come free with the posts can't loosen up and let go of the wire, so there isn't this constant restretching, restapling and upkeep.

We've picked the Red Top line because we know it is the leader and we believe it to be the biggest value for the money. One of our main policies is to pick goods that are bound to please our customers. We want you to feel that no matter what you buy of us you are getting as much or more for your money than you get anywhere.

Come in and look over our stock of Red Tops. Prices are mighty reasonable now.

Washington's Nearest Relative Sleeps In His Bed And Is Happy

Col. John C. Lewis, 81, of Louisville, Ky., Realizes Life Long Ambition When he is Given Opportunity to Spend Night at Mount Vernon, Va.

By NEA SERVICE

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 22—Perhaps the happiest man in these parts is Col. John C. Lewis, 81, said to be Washington's nearest living relative.

For he realized a life-long ambition.

He has visited Mount Vernon, Virginia, seen the Washington home, and has slept all night in the bed of the father of his country.

Col. Lewis is the great-grand-nephew of George Washington.

Ever since when as a child his close relation to Washington was traced out for him on the family tree, he had longed to visit the scene of his ancestor's manhood.

Proud of his family record, Col. Lewis made his memoirs of George Washington his own.

But it was only after he had passed his 81st birthday that he had the chance to realize his cherished ambition—to sleep in the bed where Washington dreamed.

The Daughters of the American Revolution heard how Col. Lewis had modeled his life as nearly as possible after that of Washington.

It issued an invitation to him to visit the estates, and to sleep in the bed.

Col. Lewis was overjoyed. He accepted the invitation, and lay down to a comfortable dreamless sleep.

In the morning he awakened with a sense of vigor he had not felt for years.

Wheat futures about 3c higher than week ago on stronger foreign markets and fair export demand. Cash wheat is active with firmer premiums. Oats futures lower with big commercial stocks depressing market but cash oats higher than week ago. Quoted February 20: No. 1 hard northern Minneapolis $1.75 to $2.07; No. 2 red winter St. Louis $2.03; Kansas City $1.89 to $1.96. No. 1 hard winter St. Louis $1.83; No. 2 hard winter Kansas City $1.76 to $1.84. No. 3 mixed corn Chicago $1.18 to $1.20; Minneapolis $1.09 to $1.13. No. 2 mixed corn Kansas City $1.16. No. 2 yellow corn Kansas City $1.18 to $1.19. No. 3 yellow corn Chicago $1.20 to $1.23; Minneapolis $1.17 to $1.21; St. Louis $1.24. No. 2 white corn Kansas City $1.18 to $1.19. No. 2 white oats Kansas City 52c; No. 1 white oats Chicago 40c to 51c; Minneapolis 46c to 46c; St. Louis 54c to 55c.

COTTON—

Cotton average price of middling spot in 10 designated spot markets declined 12 points during the week, closing at 24.41c per pound. New York March future contracts decline 23 points closing at 24.25c.

Questions To Be Answered at St. Paul's Church Sunday

In the prelude to sermon at St. Paul's M. E. church Sunday evening the pastor will answer the following questions:

Ought the details of crime be published in newspaper or shown on the screen?

Does God ever lead us into temptation?

Why were the prayers and efforts for the rescue of Floyd Collins in vain?

If, as you say, Rushville is steadily growing better and better, has the devil left for other quarters?

Was it right for that southern Methodist University to change its ancient and honored name to that of a man whose name appears on tobacco packages throughout the world and who paid them the forty million dollars to make the change?

The sermon topic will be "The Tragedy of the Universe, Lost Soul." This will be the closing sermon in the series.

FIRST BAPTIST

The following services will be held at the First Baptist church in this city Sunday: Sabbath school, 9:30 a. m.; Morning worship, 10:30 a. m. the sermon to be followed by baptismal services; young people's meeting, 6 p. m.; evening worship 7 p. m. in commemoration of the birthdays

Washday Steam, then Cold Air:

Excellent for . . . Colds

With the raw, changing of winds of winter comes an increase in colds. If your pores are opened wide, the chilly air of the outdoors cuts through them like a rapier.

Result: colds, oftentimes prefaces to pneumonia.

Steam from the washtub opens your pores. Freezing air does the rest.

Avoid trouble by getting out of its way. Get rid of the family wash; it's easy to do.

Some housewives are under the impression that Rough Dry laundry service means only washing and drying.

But it means more than that.

It washes and dries everything, irons the flat work; articles like bath towels, hosiery and knit underwear are fluffed dry, ready for use. All that is left to do at home is the ironing of the lighter pieces.

This service meets the needs of many women. At a low cost, it is taking all the heavy work out of many homes. Telephone us today and we'll take it out of your home, too.

These striking silhouettes are of the first president and the most recent. Apparently the only difference is in the line of the lips. Note George Washington's full parted lips, and the thin compressed line of Coolidge's mouth. The silhouette of Washington's profile is from the original, cut with scissors by Miss Dehart of Elizabethtown, N. J., in 1883. Coolidge's profile is taken from his most recent photo.

Rescue Workers Race With Time to Recover 34 Bodies

An automobile loaded with miners from all over Sullivan and surrounding counties began arriving as early as 4 o'clock this morning.

State police, Boy Scouts, ex-service men and others were aiding police to keep the machines at a distance of at least a mile from the mine.

The entire staff of the state mine safety department is on the ground including chief inspector, Thomas Dally.

John Slider, mine engineer said 131 men went into the mine yesterday morning was still at his post this morning operating levers which send the cage into the mine and back to the surface.

Slider has been asked to be relieved four times. He grandly refuses to move from his station.

"I sent them into the mine; I am going to hoist every one of them to the top before I quit." These were his only remarks.

Sandwiches and hot coffee was served throughout the night to rescue workers, volunteers and bystanders.

The temporary Red Cross barracks erected served as an emergency hospital for fainting women, worn out mothers, wives and fathers and sleepy children.

The blast was not heard above the ground. Check-weighman Thomas, who was on top of the 130 foot tippie, said he heard a sizzling noise and then a violent gust of air from the cage-way struck the top of the tippie, rocking it and shattering tin from the siding.

Russell Stewart, fire boss at the mine, was the first to enter the mine after the explosion. Equipped with only a safety lamp he braved the danger of the 'after damp' in order to get lined up on where his men were. Stewart remained in the mine four hours. He was hoisted to the top on a stretcher. Physicians revived him.

Five minutes later Steve Williams, one of the 84 who escaped from the air shaft fell to the ground bleeding fiercely and choking violently. He was again on his way into the mine to rescue if possible his less fortunate fellow workers in a short time. Others followed him.

A Model For Today

This is the 193d anniversary of George Washington's birth.

Washington has become a heroic figure—a sort of god.

So much have we idealized him we forget, at times, his human trials and temptations.

We lose sight of the fact that he was "six feet three," that his hands and feet were large, his hair reddish brown, and his eyes blue.

Because he was not a god is the true reason for his greatness. It is easy for gods to be models of perfection. For humans it is a task.

That Washington set aside temptations to be weak or jealous saved the colonies for freedom, and Washington for history as the father of a new country.

America has much to say of him. Now comes an Englishman with lavish praise.

"No nobler figure ever stood in the forefront of a nation's life," says John Richard Green, an Englishman, writing in his "History of the English People."

He tells how Washington first won the confidence of his intimate friends, and that "as the fight went on, the colonists discovered what we now realize to be true:

"His clear, unbiased judgment.

"His heroic endurance;

"His silence under difficulties;

"His calmness in the face of danger or defeat;

"His lofty and serene sense of duty which never swerved from the task at hand through jealousy;

"That never through war or peace felt the touch of a meaner ambition;

"That knew no aim save guard-

Hunt's Washington Letter

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Few think of Congress in terms of religion. The public mind, in fact, more frequently connects our legislators with irreligious than with religious matters.

As a matter of fact, however, the big majority in both House and Senate is of men who not only maintain church affiliations but who are consistent church goers.

Congress has its full share of deacons, elders and even lay preachers.

The Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which works actively with Congress in lobbying for measures designed to uplift national sobriety and morals is preparing a card index of the next Congress which is designed to reveal the religious status of all members.

To date, all but 10 of the 531 members of House and Senate have been listed. Of the 531 members so cataloged, less than 10 per cent, or just 45, do not claim membership in any church. Of these, 35 are members of the House, 10 of the Senate.

Eighteen separate creeds are represented. The Methodists lead the list with 90 representatives and 27 senators—about one-fifth of the House and more than one-fourth of the Senate.

Second come the Episcopalians.

with 79, of which 57 are in the House, 22 in the Senate.

The Presbyterians outnumber the Episcopalians in the House, with 63, but fall into third place because of their small representation in the Senate, there being but 11 Presbyterian senators. Baptists rank fourth in numbers, Roman Catholics fifth and Congregation sixth.

Utah provides the entire Mormon strength of three. Brigham Young's church claiming both Senators Smoot and King and Representative Don B. Colton.

Capitol of Kansas is the one Quaker credited to the Senate but there are three Quakers in the House.

The lone Christian Scientist in Congress is Laurence H. Watres of Pennsylvania.

LIONS CLIP WINGS OF THE BLUEBIRDS

Rushville High School, Using Many Players, Defeats Carthage Here Friday Night, 53 to 26

HEAVY OFFENSIVE STARTS

Carthage Also Presents Shifted Line-up in Beginning—Fouling Frequent, 2 Players Going Out

By FRANKLIN MULLIN

After playing on even terms with the Carthage high school basketball team for the greater part of the first half, the Rushville basket tossers with two of their number, Cherry and Osborne, nursing injuries and sickness, finally hit their stride and trounced the Bluebirds, 53 to 26. The Carthage crew showed classy basketball at times but was unable to keep up with the pace that the Lions were setting, although the latter team was playing below standard.

The Lions missed many easy under-the-basket shots and during the first ten minutes they managed to hit the net just enough to keep on even terms with the fighting Carthage crew.

For the second straight time, Coach John Swain started his "emergency squad," shifting Lakin to forward with Newbold and putting Davison in his place, thus giving the Lions a "heavy offensive." Arbuttle filled McNamara's shoes at running guard while Miller held down his regular position at back guard.

Carthage also presented a shifted line-up. Renegar, the big back-guard, was shifted to center and Siler, regular floor guard, was sent to the bench.

Carthage started the contest off fast when Sharkey, the big back-guard, rushed through for a field goal. Newbold scored on a long shot next and he was followed close by Arbuttle with a similar shot. Miller fouled but Alexander missed his throw and Renegar fouled but Davison missed both his throws. Davison was not hitting the basket, having missed several close shots up to this time.

Field goals from Tetrick and Renegar in the next few minutes of play put the Carthage crew in the lead by two points but Newbold tied it up when he dribbled down the floor for one of his under-the-basket shots. Alexander slipped in a beautiful shot and Rushville called time with the score 6 to 8 against them. Wainwright went in for Davison and Lakin was shifted to center.

Then Rushville opened up and goals by Newbold, Lakin and Arbuttle forced Carthage to call for time. At this point of the game Siler went in for Alexander with only ten minutes of the half remaining. During the remainder of the half the teams battled on even terms, during which time McNamara went in for Wainwright and Arbuttle was shifted to forward. Just as the half ended Sharkey fouled Newbold and the Rushville forward counted the free throw only to have it taken away from him because Wainwright was three feet over the line. The half ended 24 to 17 with Rushville on the long end.

In the second period the Carthage crew started off fast when Heim scored twice from the field in short notice. Davison was sent in for Lakin, who was playing in bad luck. Wainwright scored from the foul line once in two shots when Tetrick fouled him and Newbold, Miller and Davison followed him with field goals. Siler was taken out and Alexander took his place. Davison then put the ball through the net, giving Rushville 33 to Carthage's 21. Renegar fouled Miller and the Rushville player scored his free throw. Wainwright next scored from the foul line when Tetrick fouled him.

Renegar again fouled and Davison made both of his shots. Siler was sent into the game again by Carthage and Heim scored on a long shot from the side. Siler and the Rushville guards did not seem to agree with each other for Miller fouled the Carthage player. In the first half McNamara had fouled Siler twice in succession, for which the Rushville floor guard was taken out of the game.

Tetrick committed his fourth personal when he fouled Wainwright and he was banished from the game. Wainwright scored on both of his free throws. Pearson took Tetrick's place. Then Rushville spurred and ran the score up to 45 with Carthage trailing at 24 before the Bluebirds called time.

Upon resuming play, Rushville

Says Mandell is Real Champ

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Feb. 21—No title was at stake officially when Sammy Mandell and Sid Terris met recently in New York, but Mandell, as the winner, was generally accepted as being the logical successor to Benny Leonard as the world's lightweight champion. There is only one way his claim to the championship can be disputed and that is by inviting him to fight it out.

Mandell and Terris were admitted to be the class of the contenders that were listed by the New York Boxing Commission to compete in the elimination tournament that was planned as the means of finding Leonard's successor.

Mandell, Terris and Johnny Dundee, former featherweight champion pulled out of the tournament, however, and they took with them most of the prestige that the commission hoped the winner of the tournament would gain.

Both Mandell and Terris were willing to compete in the tournament, but the commission wouldn't.

run their score up to 53 on three field goals from Davison and one from Newbold. Just before the gun sounded Siler connected for his only field marker of the game giving Carthage their twenty-six points.

Fifteen fouls were committed by the two teams and Carthage although the game was not rough, it was very fast at times.

The first combination that was sent in for Rushville did considerably well. It is evidently a great scoring machine. Newbold was star scorer for Rushville with eight field goals. He had two shots from the foul line, but was cheated out of one while he missed the other. Davison also played a good game for Rushville after he got started. He scored twenty points. Arbuttle made a fine showing at his old position at floor guard, connecting for four baskets, two of which were long shots. He was switched to forward several times when a substitution was made.

Lakin had an off night, getting only three baskets. He missed several easy shots. Miller got three baskets from the field. Heim was the best scorer for Carthage, with five field goals. ### CUBS WIN AGAIN

The Rushville second team easily defeated the Indiana Soldiers and Sailors Home team of Knightstown in the curtain raiser, 45 to 23. The Cubs were not slow in getting started and soon were far ahead of their opponents. Carmel, Wainwright and Newbold seemed to have their basket eye and they sunk the ball from all angles of the floor.

The first half ended with Rushville ahead, 23 to 11. In the second period Rushville continued the onslaught and was never headed, although a foul goal in the last minute of play by Mayo prevented them from doubling the score on the home boys.

Wainwright was the chief scorer for the locals with seven field goals, and Blue was the best and fastest on his feet for the home team. Mayo connected for several long shots during the game.

INDEPENDENTS IN RALEIGH TOURNEY

Rushville MWA Team, Arlington, Alquina and Harrisburg Go Out in First Round

GAMES CONTINUING TODAY

Arlington and New Salem Contest Feature—Raleigh-Webb H. S. in Curtain Raiser Tonight

RALEIGH TOURNEY

Fountain City, 32; Rushville MWA, 31.

Fairview A. C., 58; Alquina 7. Bentonville, 6; Harrisburg 4. New Salem 34; Arlington 22.

The Independent sectional basketball tourney got under way Friday night at Raleigh with four games being played, and of the thirteen entries, four were eliminated last night, including the Modern Woodman team of Rushville, Alquina, Harrisburg and Arlington.

The games continued today, and a winner will be picked tonight in the final game, to go to the state tourney at Indianapolis. In the game that opened the tourney, the Rushville team lost out by one point, 32 to 31. The first half saw them ahead, 15 to 12, but in the closing minute of play the Fountain City team forged in for a goal.

The next two games were one sided with Fairview downing Alquina 58 to 7, holding a 29 to 0 score at the half. Bentonville took Harrisburg 60 to 4, and the half ended 31 to 3. The last game of the night was a good one, in which New Salem defeated Arlington, 34 to 22. The first half was 14 to 12.

A good crowd was on hand to witness the games. Before the final game tonight the Raleigh high school will play the Webb high school as a curtain raiser.

The line-up and summary of the game in which the local team played is as follows:

Point City 32 Rushville MWA 31

The EASY Vacuum Electric WASHER

1—The "EASY" washes by air pressure and suction. It is thorough and easy on the clothes. No friction or rubbing. The revolving vacuum cups, moving up and down sixty times per minute flush the water directly through the meshes of the garments, carrying away every particle of dirt without danger to the finest fabrics. The "EASY" is a source of satisfaction—not an annoyance. It washes rapidly, saves time, energy and clothes.

2—The "EASY" is attractive and sanitary because it is made entirely of metal—there is nothing to warp. There are no corners, seams or crevices in the round smooth tank to collect dirt. The smooth polished surfaces inside and outside are easy to keep clean and sanitary. Is dependable and built to give years of satisfaction and service.

3—Wringer, with aluminum frame swings to four positions and enables operator to wring clothes while washing. Equipped with instantaneous safety release. Extra wide spread between rolls when released. All gears are safely enclosed—no exposed mechanism at any part of the machine. The aluminum frame will not warp or bend, as it does not absorb water. It is sanitary and easy to keep clean.

4—Extreme simplicity makes it easy to operate and care for. The large open tank is convenient for putting in and taking out the clothes. Tank can be filled and emptied by hose connection or piping. No heavy parts to lift, therefore, it is within woman's strength to operate.

Honored with highest award at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. Approved by Good-Housekeeping Institute and New York Tribune Institute.

5—The "EASY" is fully equipped ready for immediate service. To start machine it is only necessary to fasten plug at end of motor cord into electric light socket or service outlet, and turn on current at the switch.

6—With the "Easy" there is less fuss getting started and less cleaning up after the washing is completed. Every owner of an "EASY" is proud of it.

7—THE NEW GAS HEATER. As will be seen from illustration, the gas heater swings out from under tank, making it easy to light without stooping or reaching under tank. After lighting, it swings under tank and heats the water, maintaining an even temperature while washing. When washer is not in use, the heater can be lifted out of socket and hung on wall out of the way, without detaching hose connection. It can be suspended from a bracket attached to the wall, and serve the same purpose as a gas stove in the laundry for heating water, starch, flatirons, and many other things. Burner has both air and gas adjustments making it adaptable for both artificial and natural gas. Patents applied for.

Washington Also First In Love

After Marriage He Warns Against Flirtation

Had George Washington been less the dignified fighting patriot that he was, he might well have been called the daddy of all sheiks as well as the father of his country.

The many stories of his loves, some true, and some most assuredly gossip, all agree at one point.

That is that Washington, after marriage, was perhaps the most contented great man in history, and that there never was a domestic rifle in the 40 years of his wedded life with Martha Curtis.

It has been more than hinted that his rich experience in affairs of the heart led him after marriage to write his immortal advice to his adopted daughter, Nelly Curtis, when she was 16.

"It would be no great departure from the truth to say that it rarely happens otherwise than that a thoroughpaced coquette dies in celibacy as a punishment for her attempts to mislead others by engaging looks, words or actions, given for no other purpose than to draw men on to make overtures that they may be respected."

When he was 16, he wrote a poem to a young girl whose name long since has been lost, telling of the "hurt of the heart, incurable."

From that time forward there are many entries in his diary which would show that his affairs of the heart were not infrequent.

He tells one incident of interest to many present day lovers. On his first western trip, carrying a message into the French lines, he called on an Indian princess, Aliquippa.

He records in his journal that he presented her with a blanket and a bottle of rum, and adds, "which latter was thought much the best present of the two."

Only recently his platonic love affair with Sally Cary Fairfax, wife of his best friend, George William Fairfax, has been revealed through studies of E. E. Prussing, an author.

She was the belle of Belvoir. He was a guest at the home. His affection, developed through her prodding him into even greater interest in literature and history, was only revealed months after in a letter written on the eve of a military campaign.

One of his most serious romances before the one that was to fill his entire life was that with Mary Philipse, sister of Mrs. Beverly Robinson, who lived in New York. She was more than attentive to him. His heart responded to the attention from an older woman, for so she was, but while Mary Philipse admired him she did not love him, and unmistakably turned him down. Two years afterward she married Colonel Roger Morris, but Washington had become engaged to Martha Curtis.

While Washington was hastening to Williamsburg to lay before the governor and council of Virginia matters relating to the march of the British against DuQuene, he met a planter named Chamberlayne who was entertaining Mrs. Daniel Parker Curtis.

Washington never had met Mrs. Curtis and was persuaded to visit the house. He left his body servant Bishop, outside, intending to continue his journey in a few moments.

But evening drew on, and still he did not return. He was what nowadays would be called "rushing the pretty young widow."

From the time of their meeting, no other woman had the power to charm Washington. He continued his journey next day, but on completion of his mission returned at once to visit the charming widow.

In May 1758, he enters an item, "one engagement ring, 2 pounds 16 shillings," but as Curtis had not been dead a year announcement of the engagement was delayed.

The following January 17 the marriage was solemnized.

SUFFERED TWO YEARS

Finally Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Says Mrs. Anderson

Rangeley, Maine. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me greatly for bearing-down pains in the sides and back, headaches and tired feelings. I suffered for two years and it seemed as though I could not get my work done from one day to the next. After reading letters from others who had taken the Vegetable Compound I decided to try it and now I can do all kinds of work, sewing, washing, ironing and sweeping. I live on a farm and have five in the family so am busy most of the time. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and hope my letter will help some one to take your medicine." — Mrs. WALTER E. ANDERSON, Box 270, Rangeley, Maine.

Over 200,000 women have so far replied to our question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?" 98 out of every 100 of the replies say, "yes," and because the Vegetable Compound has been helping other women it should help you. For sale by druggists everywhere.

was the D. A. R. banquet given Friday evening at the Social Club rooms. A delicious chicken dinner was served to one hundred and twenty-eight guests, including the following out-of-town guests: Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Strong and daughter of Indianapolis, Miss Elizabeth Toller of Detroit, Mich., and Miss Rhodes. The banquet tables were very attractively adorned in miniature cherry trees, suggestive of George Washington's birthday, with crystal candle sticks and red candles. The place cards were adorned with sprays of cherries and a miniature log.

Following the banquet a splendid program was given consisting of the following numbers; two colonial solos in costume, Mrs. C. E. Walden; reading, Helen Louise Bitner; solo in costume, Mrs. Neff Ashworth; "Powder Puff" dance, Bonnie Jean Beale; and reading, Helen Louise Bitner. The second part of the program consisted of a one act play entitled, "The Birthday Ball." The characters were Mrs. C. E. Walden, Olive Logan, Carolyn Wilson, Judith Mauzy, Helen Gray and Mrs. Earl Moore. Mrs. Hugh Mauzy was the accompanist on the piano for Mrs. Walden and Mrs. George Hogsett played the accompaniment for Mrs. Ashworth and Bonnie Jean Beale.

The banquet was pronounced by members of the organization to have been the best and most enjoyable social function ever given by the D. A. R.'s of this city.

WANT TO KNOW HOW MONEY IS SPENT

Continued from Page One and maintenance. All of the inquiry is centered on the motor transport division which had charge of the disposal of nearly $10,000,000 worth of surplus war materials sent to the Indiana highway department by the war department at Washington. The disposal of this vast store of war materials has been investigated by the state board of accounts and the information obtained has been turned over to the Marion county grand jury. Delay of the grand jury to return a report on the subject prompted this legislative inquiry.

While sub-committees have been at work during the week on the appropriation measure and the investigations, the house and senate have been pushing with greater vigor into the enormous amount of work that has piled up. Efforts of Speaker Leslie and Lieutenant Governor Van Orman have been redoubled in pushing action on pending legislation with the result that more than 100 bills have been passed, killed or withdrawn during the week.

As many of the authors of minor bills are beginning to be uneasy about their passage it is likely that both houses will swing into night session next week. During the last two weeks of the session day and night sessions are possible because of the slowing down in new bill presentation and, therefore a lessening of committee work.

Aside from the appropriation bill and the three companion measures backed by the administration for the purpose of expanding the budget control to all departments and merging state funds, the most important bills pending at the close of the sixth week of the session are:

The Moorhead measure to place busses under the regulation of the public service commission. Passed the senate.

The Cann bill to increase gasoline tax from 2 to 3 cents. Passed the senate.

The co-operative marketing bill. Passed the House.

Three bills introduced at the request of the Republican state committee—one providing for the use of primary election polls as the basis for registration, another amending the absent voters law to prevent its abuse and a third designed to give women a legal standing in the party organizations.

Attica—The Fountain county jail is empty again. The last two prisoners, Ora Rateliff, having been released and Charles E. Martin, taken to the penal farm.

"Ten Commandments" Today

"The Ten Commandments", Cecil B. DeMille's superb dramatic spectacle, which is being presented by Adolph Zukor and Jesse L. Lasky at the Princess Theatre today, is an adroit combination of ancient splendor and modern melodrama. The introductory scenes show the flight of the Children of Israel from Egypt and the receiving of the Commandments by Moses. The later scenes reveal modern life in San Francisco. The theme of the historical narrative is carried forward over the intervening three thousand years and the fact is forcibly shown that the fundamental laws are as unescapable today as in the far distant past.

"The Early Bird", Castle

At the Castle Theatre today, motion picture lovers will again be thrilled and cocked with laughter at the ever-clever Johnny Hines, whose screen characterizations of late have made him one of the most popular idols in screen land.

Johnny is now giving a thoroughly appreciable account of himself in an ingeniously humorous comedy drama entitled "The Early Bird" which taken far and large, is a real hit! This clever screen comedian is at his best in this production, for the action carries him into no end of amusing situations that bring continual gales of laughter. The audience is kept on edge throughout the full six reels, for coincident with the clean comedy vein, is a plot rich in melodrama and thrilling moments, which aside from the star gives Sigrid Hemquist, Edmund Breese and Wyndham Standing untold opportunities to portray some of the finest bits of acting we have seen in this city in some time. These players have apparently been greatly interested in their work for each of them actually appears to live his or her part on the screen. There is little attempt at acting. The characters perform their parts as if they lived each scene—and how well they accomplish their ends is to be witnessed by the hearty applause that "The Early Bird" was given during and at the end of the performance.

Drama at its height in the world war when Lieut. Col. Charles Whittlesey commanding the Lost Battalion, is reputed to have told the German forces to "go to hell". Whittlesey's defiance came in answer to the enemy's demand that he surrender his position. It is portrayed in faithful detail in the film "The Lost Battalion" which is to be shown at Princess Theatre Monday and Tuesday for the benefit of the Legion.

Colonel Whittlesey and Captain George McMurtry read the letter which was delivered by one of their own men who had been captured. It had been penciled by Lieutenant Heinrich Prinz of the German army, who before the war had spent six years in Seattle. The German officer appealed to the Americans to surrender on the grounds of humanity saying that the moans of the suffering Americans in the Argonne "pocket" could be heard in the enemy lines, that further resistance was vain and that rescue was impossible.

HIGH SCHOOL REFLECTOR

THE RALEIGH SCHOOL

JUNIOR CLASS

Please patronize our lyceum course, which will be given by "The Poets," Thursday evening, February 26 at the gym.

Several of the high school pupils attended a Valentine party at the home of Thelmer White Saturday night, Feb. 14. The party was given by the senior class.

The senior class have ordered their commencement invitations. The commencement will be April 25.

The school orchestra will furnish music at the Farmer's meeting Thursday night.

Prizes were awarded Tuesday to pupils of the sixth grade who made the best maps of the United States. Hollis Johnson received the first prize, which was a blue ribbon and Odie Whitton received a second prize, which was a red ribbon.

HOMER SCHOOL

Editor, FRIEDA EDMONDSON
You haven't heard from us for quite a while but, anyway we are still progressing as fast as ever.

In the meantime Mrs. Brown has resigned. We were sorry to see her leave but we welcome in her place, Miss Whitton. Welcome, Miss Whitton, welcome.

The freshman class is proving successful in the study of English. They have been making "Good English" posters for the benefit of the entire school. We want to get rid of "Old Slang" and use "Good, Pure English."

Our Parent-Teachers association is also proving successful. Tuesday night, February 17, a play entitled "How the Story Grew," was given at the Parent-Teacher's meeting. It certainly was a "scream."

Mable Wagoner, a pupil of the Freshman class, won third prize in high school music memory contest. Congratulations, Mable.

Girls, Are You Frail, Weak, Appetite Gone?

MISS HELEN EHRSAN

Muncie, Ind.—"I was completely broken-down in health. I suffered with my back, pain in my side, and headaches. I had scarcely any appetite and I was very nervous. I became frail and weak. Finally, began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and a few bottles restored me to health. I gained thirty-five pounds in weight—went from eighty-five to a hundred and twenty. 'Favorite Prescription' made me stout and happy and I am delighted to recommend it."—Miss Helen Ehrsan, 815 S. Penn St.

Why not get this Prescription today from your druggist; or write Dr. Pierce, President of the Invalids' Hotel, in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice, or send 10c for a trial pkg. of tablets.

The seventh grade geography "Travel Club" is getting along nicely. They have chosen up sides and are having a contest in knowing and spelling the countries and capitals of Europe. As yet we don't know who the winner will be.

I think we are improving some in music. We are taking sight reading and still working on the Music Memory contest.

GINGS SCHOOL

The Juniors entertained the Assembly Tuesday with the following program: An original poem containing a stanza concerning each class, the teachers and school was read by Naomi Nash. A play entitled "The Train to Mauro," was given with the following characters participating: Mrs. Buttermilk, an old lady from the country, Helen Kennedy; Mr. Knight, a railroad agent, Clyde Gordon; Johnny, a small boy, Alice Eakins. The final number was a parody on the song, "Sitting in A Corner" sung by the Junior class.

LATIN CONTEST

The local school Latin contest which was held last Friday entitled the following students to enter the county contest: first division, Donald Rees and Jesse Eckart; Caesar division, Helen Bingaman and Mildred McMillin; Cicero division, Helen Kennedy and Naomi Nash.

LATIN CLUB

The Inter Nos club met Wednesday night at the home of Clara Cortner. After the business session the following program was given prepared by Mildred McMillin and Helen Bingaman: song, America, talk, "Food and Meals of the Romans," Clyde Gordon; duet, Clara Cortner and Helen Kennedy. Closing song G. G. G. Gaia.

The following poem was written by a Sophomore in an English assignment for original poems.

Woodrow Wilson

We all admire a manly man,
Who stood so pure to see,
Who could endure such a one?
Surely not you or me.
Who held the Nation's honor high
Before a war torn world,
Who always looked with loving eye
When the dear old flag unfurled.
Who seldom had a word of praise
But many hours of pain
Until the time the dead arise
We'll ne'er see his like again.

NEW SALEM

Our Parent-Teacher's meeting was well attended last Tuesday night. The following program was rendered.

Meeting called to order by Walter Norris, President.
Music by High School orchestra
Recitation by Mary Lois Brickler
Community singing.

Exercise from Mrs. Bell's room.
Trombone solo by Howard Keisling.
Address by Paul Allen of Rushville
Recitation by Norma Dausche
Exercise from Mrs. Belle's room
Talk by Supt. B. D. Farthing.
Music by the H. S. orchestra.

The talks were well enjoyed and Mr. Jinks was much complimented on the good music.

The mumps situation is improving, but there are yet many of the grade children out.

The basketball game with Orange was called off on account of the mumps.

The game with Milroy girls was called off too on account of sickness of the Father of Milroy's girls' coach.

CENTER SCHOOL

Tests have been given in nearly all of the classes this week.

The Freshmen English class has completed the study of Irving's Sketch Book and has now begun the study of Shakespeare's Julius Caesar. The Sophomore class has completed Ashman's "The Modern Short Story," and is now studying Pittenger's "The Short Story."

The Latin II class has completed the translation of Book two of Caesars Gallus war, and has begun work on Book III.

Lava Apple, who is attending Madam Blaker's school in Indianapolis visited our school last Friday.

LOCAL DELEGATION GOES ON GYM JAUNT

are elevated, permanently constructed, on all four sides, with six entrances. Beneath the elevated seats are class rooms, with ample space, and several vacant rooms that have not been fitted up. In these class rooms are the mechanical drawing classes, engineering and automobile mechanic classes, and the building in this manner is used every day, instead of for basketball purposes only.

The gymnasium at Bloomington, Indiana University, was inspected, merely to get some idea as to arrangements and interior designs, because, the edifice itself could not be duplicated for less than $300,000.

The gymnasium at Columbus is the best looking building of any high school, and cost $107,000. The building is expensively finished, inside and out, with a swimming pool, and modern conveniences in the basement.

The playing floor is exceptionally good, and the seating arrangement also is good, but the general decision prevailed there, that it was not large enough for future needs, and is often times pushed now. It seats 3,000 people.

The various methods of financing the gymnasiums, and complete details concerning the various structures visited by the Rushville people, will be taken up in articles that are to follow.

The delegation Friday learned one thing. That the buildings in almost every community are not large enough. In two of the places visited, it was emphasized that a building should be large enough to accommodate the entire population. In Rushville, the officials and others interested will no doubt have plans drawn up for one to seat 5,000.

Those who made the trip Friday were John A. Tittsworth, O. R. Zimmer, Chase P. Mauzy, Will M. Sparks, John Wyatt, Warder Wyatt, Dr. Frank H. Green, John Swain, Louis Hiner, Walter W. Hubbard, Walter R. Thomas, H. B. Allman and E. R. Casady.

RESCUE WORKERS RACE WITH TIME TO RECOVER 34 BODIES

Mother Earth May Defy Skill and
Strategy of Indiana State Library
Heroic Efforts

EARTH SLIDE IS FEARED

From 6 to 21 Bodies may be Buried,
Making Recovery From Sullivan
Mine Impossible

50 TRAPPED IN EXPLOSION

Sixteen Bodies had been Hoisted to Surface at 7 O'clock—Earth
Sinking Rapidly

BULLETIN

(By United Press)

At the Mouth of City Mine, Sullivan, Ind., Feb. 21—The body of the seventeenth victim of the 51 miners trapped in City mine by an explosion yesterday noon, was brought to the surface today.

This leaves thirty-four bodies yet to be recovered and whose removal is still a matter of speculation due to a reported "squeeze," or sliding of the earth.

Rescue workers are laboring feverishly in a supreme effort to get to the men.

Russel Garby was the seventeenth brought from the mine. Rescue men with gas masks from Vincennes, went to entry No. 3 in an effort to remove the bodies of twenty men, believed to have been trapped in that section of the mine.

First efforts of the rescue workers were attempted to force air into entry 3.

Air is the main factor today. No more shovelling work is needed. Crowds are being kept back away from the mouth in order that all the air possible can be forced down into the mine.

"We need air and lots of it," was the only statement, Inspector Dally would make.

At Mouth of City Mine, Sullivan, Ind., Feb. 21—Mother earth may defy skill and strategy of Indiana's best, trained mine safety experts in their heroic efforts to bring to the surface the remaining 34 bodies of the fifty miners trapped in this mine yesterday by an explosion. Sixteen bodies had been hoisted to the top at 7 o'clock this morning.

Rescue workers coming to the surface early today expressed fear of a "squeeze" in rooms three and four off the north end. They say that if this is true, anywhere from six to twenty-one bodies will be buried in the slide of earth.

This report tended to speed up rescue work, men racing with time to carry out the remaining thirty-four bodies from the west entry rooms.

There is no question but what all men are dead. S. J. Wilton, deputy state mine inspector said this morning that no one could possibly be alive.

A "squeeze" following an explosion is a sinking of the earth and all man power cannot check its course. It is reported to be sinking one inch per hour. In this section of the mine rooms are but four feet ten inches high.

The mine was cleared of all men at 6 o'clock last evening for a test.

Most of Bodies Recovered Had Their Arms Upraised

Sullivan, Ind., Feb. 21—Bodies of most of the miners taken from the City mine thus far had their arms upraised and hands pressed tightly across the eyes and forehead.

This position, held even in the rigor of death, indicated the efforts of the trapped men to shield themselves from the deadly gasses that followed the explosion.

O. C. Thomas, weigh-master, stood at the entrance of the mine as the bodies were taken from the lift, resolutely facing the grim task of prying down the stiff arms to identify the dead.

The elbows and forearms of some of the dead were terribly torn and lacerated, indicating they had made a frantic effort to crawl to safety in the pitch darkness following the blast.

Three Fathers and Sons Perish in Mine Disaster

Sullivan, Ind., Feb. 21—Three fathers and their sons who worked side by side in the City coal mine perished in Friday's disaster.

The body of Pearl Hawhee, 47, remains in the mine. That of his son, Frank Hawhee, 18, has been recovered.

Florence Leaque, a Frenchman, and his son, Emil Leaque, both were killed.

The body of Philip Walkers, 54, for twenty years a miner, has been recovered but that of his son Wayne Walkers, 20, has not been recovered.

of air to be taken it was four hours before rescuers again went into the shaft. They reappeared explaining that they could only go 700 feet back due to gas conditions.

When the next body will be hoisted to the top is a question of time. It may be momentarily or it may be late today—or it may never be, if all the bodies lie in the section affected by the "squeeze."

T. O. Thomas, check weighman at the mine, said this morning that if all men were in their right positions at the time of the disasters, 21 would be affected by the "squeeze" and 13 would be scattered in other sections of the mine and thus, the recovery of their bodies more probable.

Although Inspector Wilton refused to comment on any possible "squeeze" he did report numerous rock, slate and dirt falls which would delay rescuers reaching the bodies.

It took two hours, according to Wilton, to re-route the rescuers in their "crawl" through the mine. The men are forced to push air before them. As they advance 45 feet they return 45 feet and "bathtub" up cross entries to keep the air from crossing over, thus forcing it ahead.

76 Children, 44 Widows

Sullivan, Ind., Feb. 21—Seventy six children and forty-four widows are known to be survivors of the fifty one miners dead. A record compiled by the mine's check weighman, showed that only seven of the dead were single men.

Frank Smith, one of the victims is reported as leaving a widow and ten children. Parry Maxwell, another victim, leaves a widow and six children.

of them. This work is slow and tedious. Two rescue teams of six men each are relieved every two hours by fresh teams.

A cool, drizzling rain added to the misery of relatives of the dead, who refused to retire from their posts as men worked on throughout the night, which seemed ages to these relatives, many of whom were aged women and children, grouped about the entry shaft of the mine every time the cage was hoisted to the top—hoping against hope that it would be their husband, father or son alive.

One hundred and thirty-five men went into the mine to work at 7 o'clock Friday morning. The explosion occurred shortly before noon. Eighty four men, many bleeding at the nose and black in the face, crawled up the air shaft within an half hour after the explosion. Medical attention was needed for these men. Bleeding of the nose was caused by the men sticking two fingers up their nose as far as possible to keep out the gas that threatened them as they slowly climbed the ladder, falling exhausted to the ground, one at a time.

The first injured man brought to the top was Emery Davidson. He received serious injuries when caught by falling slate near the front of the mine. He is resting well in a local hospital and will probably recover.

Check-weighman Thomas and Inspector Wilton in a final check this morning of those in the mine, said they knew 34 bodies remaining in the mine, which disputes reports, carried by other news agencies other than the United Press, that the dead is 51.

SPECIAL JUDGE HEARS CHILD POSSESSION CASE

Further Evidence Given in Suit of
Clyde Merritt Against His Wife,
Hazel Merritt

WERE REFUSED A DIVORCE

Judge Fred Hines of Noblesville was here today acting as special judge in the hearing of further evidence in the case of Clyde Merritt against Hazel Merritt.

The action is a complaint for possession of a child, and grows out of an alleged family controversy in which a divorce suit was heard several months ago and refused. The special judge heard a portion of the evidence some time ago, and came here this morning to conduct a further hearing in the matter before rendering a decision.

The plaintiff is seeking possession of the child, charging that his wife and the home surroundings at her home are not the proper conditions to rear a child. Both sides were putting up a strong fight for the possession of the child, and the case was attracting considerable attention in court.

JUDGE A. R. ROBINSON TO TALK

Indianapolis Man to Speak at Masonic Banquet Thursday

Members of Phoenix lodge No. 62, Free and Accepted Masons, have received postal card announcements of a banquet and social gathering to be held at the Masonic Temple here next Thursday evening.

The main event of the evening will be an address by Arthur R. Robinson of Indianapolis, a superior court judge, who is well known in Rushville. He is a very talented speaker and local Masons regard it as fortunate to be able to have him for the meeting.

The banquet will be served by members of Martha Poe chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

Each Miner's Dependents Will Receive Over $4,000

Sullivan, Ind., Feb. 21—Each family or group of dependents of miners who died in the City mine explosion Friday will receive $3,960 and $100 for funeral expense.

This was announced today by representatives of the operators' mutual insurance association.

The disaster will probably cost the association $200,000, it was estimated.

WANT TO KNOW HOW MONEY IS SPENT

Motive Ascribed for Investigation of
Three State Departments by
Legislators

SENTIMENT IS DIVIDED

Some Disagreement as to Advantage of Efficacy of Inquiries of This Sort

(Special to The Daily Republican). Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 21—The spectacular in the Indiana legislative is now centered around the investigations being made by subcommittees into the financial affairs of three important branches of the state government.

This legislative inquiry is centering on the state highway commission, the biggest money spending agency in the state government, the Indiana reformatory for which $3,000,000 has been appropriated in the last four years, and the public service commission, which always comes in for its share of probing by the assembly.

All of these investigations are being made in connection with the appropriation measure. Desire on the part of members of the finance committees of both branches to have a thorough knowledge of the way these important branches of the state government spend their money has been one of the motives ascribed for the probes.

Sentiment in the legislature is divided on the advisability or efficacy of legislative investigations of this nature. Those who oppose them take the position the assembly is not in session long enough to make a thorough investigation. In addition it is pointed out if there is anything irregular in any of the departments this will be discovered by the board of accounts and action can be taken in the courts.

Notwithstanding this divided sentiment there has been no effort to curb the investigations. On the contrary they have been permitted to go forward even at the expense of delaying the advance of the appropriation measure, the most important bill before the session.

One of the important phases of the investigation directed at the highway commission is that no trace of suspicion has been unearthed about the road construction and maintenance divisions of this department. Nearly all the highway funds, more than $10,000,000 annually, are spent for construction.

WASHINGTON AND HIS COUNTRY TO BE TOPIC

The Rev. Gibson Wilson Will Preach
Birthday Anniversary Sermon at
First Presbyterian Church

TO SHOW HIM AS CHRISTIAN

"Washington and His Country" will be the subject of the sermon at the First Presbyterian Church, Sunday night by the pastor, Rev. Gibson Wilson. The appropriateness of this subject is in the fact that Sunday, the 22nd, is the anniversary day of his birth.

There were many qualities in Washington which should be emulated today, it is pointed out. He is known as President, general and sometimes as a farmer, but the speaker will permit him as a great Christian statesman, a man of prayer, greatly interested in the church and faithful upon its attendance.

February 15 to 22 is known in the church as Sacrificial Loyalty Week. The people have been given envelopes in which they will place their special offerings to the work of the church. Last year this offering amounted to over $800,000 throughout the denomination, in addition to the regular giving.

The subject of the morning sermon will be "The Unsearchable Riches of Christ."

MONDAY A NATIONAL HOLIDAY

Monday will be observed as a national holiday here on account of Washington's birthday falling on Sunday.

The customary holiday rules will be observed at the postoffice. There will be no regular city or rural route deliveries of mail, but special and perishables will be delivered in the city. The windows at the postoffice will be open until ten o'clock in the morning.

There will be no special recognition of the event otherwise, except reference to the occasion in the schools. The banks will be closed, but other business will be on as usual.

AGAINST E. H. MORRIS

The Swine Pure Breeders Serum company was awarded judgment in the sum of $992.35 against Elbert H. Morris in circuit court on February 2, instead of against Charles E. Morris, his father, as stated in the Republican. The suit was originally filed against the elder Morris, but was dismissed as to him and his son was made defendant.

LOCAL DELEGATION GOES ON GYM JAUNT

School Board Members, City Officials and Others Inspect Several
Gymnasiums Friday

PLAN A NEW BUILDING HERE

Aim is to Profit by Mistakes of Other
Cities, Whose Gyms Are All Too
Small

School board members, city officials and others of this city, made an excursion Friday into the southwestern part of the state, inspecting gymnasiums that have been constructed recently, with the purpose in view of obtaining plans for building one in Rushville this summer.

The gymnasiums visited and inspected by the local people were at Shelbyville, Franklin, Martinsville, Bloomington and Columbus, and at each place the delegation was shown through, given suggestions and the mistakes made in building were pointed out.

Although no definite plan has been made here concerning the building of a gymnasium, yet it is expected that definite steps will be taken within ten days, and a plan decided upon concerning the financing of the affair, and the amount of money that is to be spent on the gymnasium.

The building to be built will not doubt be patterned after some of the leading gymnasiums. During the trip Friday, notes were made at each place concerning the mistakes made in building that particular building, and an effort here will be made to overcome all mistakes, and profit by the errors made by others.

In nearly every instance, the greatest mistake made, was the building was not large enough to accommodate the crowds. This was particularly true at Shelbyville, Franklin and Columbus. All three of these cities have fine buildings, but they have outgrown their capacity within the short space of time that they have been erected.

At Shelbyville, the seating capacity is only 1,950 although the playing floor is excellent, and the building, a modern structure. It is not near large enough to accommodate the crowds during a game between Shelbyville and a strong opponent. Tim Campbell, the coach, advised right at the start, to build the gym at Rushville large enough to meet all future needs.

At Franklin the seating capacity is greater than that at Shelbyville, but there is often time a demand for more seats than they have, and the advice here also was to build for the future.

Over at Martinsville, the population of the city is 4,980. Every citizen of the city could be placed comfortably in the new gym. It seats 5,200. The fact that it is larger than the city's population, only shows the increasing demand for larger gymnasiums. It is true, the place is not filled at every game, but when such teams as Shelbyville and Shortridge bring more than 1,000 rooters with them, there is a place to accommodate them, and the additional size doesn't cost much more, and pays out quicker.

In all of the gyms visited, the one at Martinsville seemed to make a better impression than any other. The goal for one in Rushville to seat 5,000 people is to be launched. With a strong schedule of neighboring cities, hundreds will come, and it also provides a building suitable for handling a district convention or gathering of large size.

At Martinsville, it is not a gymnasium alone. It is adjacent to the high school building. The 5,200 seats (Continued on Page Eight)

BANK TO OCCUPY NEW HOME MONDAY

Rush County National to Move on National Holiday, Without Interference With Business

BUILDING IS COMPLETED

Brick Structure, With Indiana Limestone Trim, Has All Facilities of Modern Bank

The Rush County National bank will move into its new building at the southwest corner of Main and Second streets Monday and will be ready for business on Tuesday.

The complete new banking and business building, which was designed by McGuire and Shook, architects, of Indianapolis, has been under construction since last summer, and for the last several weeks the finishing touches have been given the interior. It takes the place of the building that burned on the same site January 25, 1924.

On account of Monday being observed as a holiday, due to Washington's birthday on Sunday, the bank will move into its new home without any interference with business.

The building is forty by eighty-five feet, with two stories and a basement, and is designed along colonial lines. The structure is of brick exterior with an Indiana limestone trim.

The interior of the bank is reached through a pair of heavy bronze doors opening into a vestibule which is trimmed in mahogany. The vestibule leads into a spacious, center lobby flanked by office spaces and with an office screen on each side. The lobby also contains two attractively designed check desks with bronze lighting reflectors and fittings.

The lobby is closed on one end by mahogany and plate glass screen fitted with a bronze gate and automatic lock protecting the passage to the bank vault. To the rear of this screen is found a passageway leading to the customers rooms, directors room and the massive vault which came through the fire in splendid condition. A well appointed private consultation room is provided at the front, just off the lobby, and there is also a private telephone booth and ladies rest room.

A business room is situated at the rear of the building, opening in Second street, and the second story is occupied by splendid office suites with all of the modern service facilities.

The general interior scheme of the woodwork is brown mahogany and the general bank fittings and light fixtures are of bronze. Draperies are of heavy Monks cloth and the room is decorated in monotonous of harmonizing color.

The Rush County National bank was organized as a national bank in 1871, succeeding the Rush County Banking company, with the following men as directors:

Oliver Posey, Edward H. M. Perry, Jacob H. Oglesby, Leonidas Sexton and Lewis Maddux. Mr. Posey was the first president and James H. Lakin was the first cashier.

Mr. Lakin resigned as cashier January 1, 1873 and John Megee was appointed to take his place. Mr. Megee held the position until January 10, 1882, when he retired and W. A. Posey was appointed.

Two years later, January 8, 1884, Oliver Posey resigned as president and W. A. Posey also quit as cashier, his position being taken by E. D. Pugh.

L. Link succeeded Mr. Posey as president and has been at the head of the bank ever since. Mr. Pugh remained in the capacity of cashier until July 1, 1907, when L. M. Sexton, the present cashier, was appointed and has been serving continuously in this position since that time.

The officers of the bank at the present time are: L. Link, president; Claude Cambern, vice president; L. M. Sexton, cashier; H. C. Flint, teller; Bertha Blount, Paul Newhouse and Eugene Kelley, bookkeepers.

The directors are: L. Link, Claude Cambern, Will M. Sparks, A. L. Riggs, J. C. Sexton, Frank Wilson and L. M. Sexton.

The contractors were as follows: M. M. Winslow and Beale Bros. of Rushville for the building construction and plumbing, heating construction (Continued on Page Eight)

"There's a Week's Work of Fencing—Done in a Day"

A good many of our customers have made that very remark after they tried out the Red Top Steel Fence Post.

For instance, you can drive over 200 of these posts in a day without a helper. Some have driven as high as 300. The One-Man Driver makes this possible. What a difference from the old back-breaking method of setting wood posts. No post hole digging and no tamping with Red Tops. This saving on labor costs makes the price on Red Tops installed very low.

That's not the only saving you'll make. One Red Top will outlast at least two wood posts. And there is very little fence repair work required with Red Tops. The Handy Fence Fasteners which come free with the posts can't loosen up and let go of the wire, so there isn't this constant restretching, restapling and upkeep.

We've picked the Red Top line because we know it is the leader and we believe it to be the biggest value for the money. One of our main policies is to pick goods that are bound to please our customers. We want you to feel that no matter what you buy of us you are getting as much or more for your money than you get anywhere.

Come in and look over our stock of Red Tops. Prices are mighty reasonable now.

Washington's Nearest Relative Sleeps In His Bed And Is Happy

Col. John C. Lewis, 81, of Louisville, Ky., Realizes Life Long Ambition When He Is Given Opportunity to Spend Night at Mount Vernon, Va.

By NEA SERVICE

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 22—Perhaps the happiest man in these parts is Col. John C. Lewis, 81, said to be Washington's nearest living relative.

For he realized a life-long ambition. He has visited Mount Vernon, Virginia, seen the Washington home, and has slept all night in the bed of the father of his country.

Col. Lewis is the great-grand-nephew of George Washington.

Ever since when as a child his close relation to Washington was traced out for him on the family tree, he had longed to visit the scene of his ancestor's manhood.

Proud of his family record, Col. Lewis made his maxims of George Washington his own.

But it was only after he had passed his 81st birthday that he had the chance to realize his cherished ambition—to sleep in the bed where Washington dreamed.

The Daughters of the American Revolution heard how Col. Lewis had modeled his life as nearly as possible after that of Washington.

It issued an invitation to him to visit the estates, and to sleep in the bed.

Col. Lewis was overjoyed. He accepted the invitation, and lay down to a comfortable dreamless sleep.

In the morning he awakened with a sense of vigor he had not felt for years.

wheat futures about 3c higher than week ago on stronger foreign markets and fair export demand. Cash wheat is active with firmer premiums. Oats futures lower with big commercial stocks depressing market but cash oats higher than week ago. Quoted February 20: No. 1 hard northern Minneapolis $1.75 to $2.07; No. 2 red winter St. Louis $2.03; Kansas City $1.89 to $1.96. No. 1 hard winter St. Louis $1.83; No. 2 hard winter Kansas City $1.76 to $1.84. No. 3 mixed corn Chicago $1.18 to $1.20; Minneapolis $1.09 to $1.13. No. 2 mixed corn Kansas City $1.16. No. 2 yellow corn Kansas City $1.18 to $1.19. No. 3 yellow corn Chicago $1.20 to $1.23; Minneapolis $1.17 to $1.21; St. Louis $1.24. No. 2 white corn Kansas City $1.18 to $1.19. Questions To Be Answered at St. Paul's Church Sunday

In the prelude to sermon at St. Paul's M. E. church Sunday evening the pastor will answer the following questions:

Ought the details of crime be published in newspaper or shown on the screen?

Does God ever lead us into temptation?

Why were the prayers and efforts for the rescue of Floyd Collins in vain?

If, as you say, Rushville is steadily growing better and better, has the devil left for other quarters?

Was it right for that southern Methodist University to change its ancient and honored name to that of a man whose name appears on tobacco packages throughout the world and who paid them the forty million dollars to make the change?

The sermon topic will be "The Tragedy of the Universe, Lost Soul." This will be the closing sermon in the series.

FIRST BAPTIST

The following services will be held at the First Baptist church in this city Sunday: Sabbath school, 9:30 a. m.; Morning worship, 10:30 a. m.; the sermon to be followed by baptismal services; young people's meeting, 6 p. m.; evening worship 7 p. m. in commemoration of the birthdays

Rescue Workers Race With
Time to Recover 34 Bodies

An automobile loaded with miners from all over Sullivan and surrounding counties began arriving as early as 4 o'clock this morning. State police, Boy Scouts, ex-service men and others were aiding police to keep the machines at a distance of at least a mile from the mine.

The entire staff of the state mine safety department is on the ground including chief, Inspector, Thomas Dally.

John Sliedre, mine engineer, said 131 men went into the mine yesterday morning was still at his post this morning operating levers which send the cage into the mine and back to the surface.

Sliedre has been asked to be relieved four times. He grimly refuses to move from his station.

"I sent them into the mine; I am going to hoist every one of them to the top before I quit." These were his only remarks.

Sandwiches and hot coffee was served throughout the night to rescue workers, volunteers and bystanders.

The temporary Red Cross barracks erected served as an emergency hospital for fainting women, worn out mothers, wives and fathers and sleepy children.

The blast was not heard above the ground. Check-weighman Thomas, who was on top of the 130 foot tangle, said he heard a sizzling noise and then a violent gust of air from the cage-way struck the top of the tangle, rocking it and shattering tin from the siding.

Russell Stewart, fire boss at the mine, was the first to enter the mine after the explosion. Equipped with only a safety lamp he braved the danger of the "after damp" in order to get lined up on where his men were. Stewart remained in the mine four hours. He was hoisted to the top on a stretcher. Physicians revived him.

Five minutes later Steve Williams, one of the 84 who escaped from the air shaft fell to the ground bleeding fiercely, and choking violently. He was again on his way into the mine to rescue if possible his less fortunate fellow workers in a short time. Others followed him.

COLLARS, CUFFS AND NECK-BANDS—spotlessly clean, and without hand-rubbing!

IMPOSSIBLE? Well, it wasn't possible until the Maytag Gyrofoam Washer made it so.

The Maytag is an astonishing advance—the world leader. It works on an entirely new principle. Washes twice as fast as any other washer! Washes cleaner! Washes the finest clothes more gently than is humanly possible. Washes the dirtiest clothes more thoroughly clean than you'd imagine possible. Besides, it's the simplest and easiest washer to operate.

Sounds impossible? Prove it yourself! We'll be glad to let you have a Maytag to make the test. Get your call in early—before next washday.

World's Best News:—The angel said unto them, Fear not for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day, in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ, the Lord. Luke 2:10-11.

Prayer:—O thou Lord of Life, be thou born again in us, and then we will pass on daily the good tidings and great joy to others until all people have received them.

A Model For Today

This is the 193d anniversary of George Washington's birth. Washington has become a heroic figure—a sort of god.

So much have we idealized him we forget, at times, his human trials and temptations.

We lose sight of the fact that he was "six feet three, that his hands and feet were large, his hair reddish brown, and his eyes blue."

Because he was not a god, is the true reason for his greatness. It is easy for gods to be models of perfection. For humans it is a task.

That Washington set aside temptations to be weak or jealous saved the colonies for freedom, and Washington for history as the father of a new country.

America has much to say of him. Now comes an Englishman with a lavish praise.

"No nobler figure ever stood in the forefront of a nation's life," says John Richard Green, an Englishman, writing in his "History of the English People."

He tells how Washington, first won the confidence of his intimate friends, and that "as the fight went on, the colonists discovered what we now realize to be true:

"His clear, unbiased judgment.

"His heroic endurance.

"His silence under difficulties;

"His calmness in the face of danger or defeat;

"His patience and the quickness with which he struck;

"The lofty and serene sense of duty which never swerved from the task at hand through jealousy;

"That never through war or peace felt the touch of a meaner ambition;

"That knew no aim save guarding the freedom of his fellow countrymen, and no personal longing save returning to his own fireside when that freedom was secured."

In your acquaintance, who is silent under difficulty, patient in defeat, calm in danger, true to his purpose, disregarding temptation and jealousy, who knows no personal longing, save peace, honor, and contentment for himself and his fellows?

Go to him. Win his friendship. Copy his ways. Trust him. Believe in him. Honor him.

He is the stuff of which heroes are made.

Whatever his station in life, he is a model Washington.

Make no mistake about it.

War Legislation

The lower house of the Indiana general assembly will be performing a valuable service for the people of the state if it defeats the old age pension, providing they had an income of less than $300 a year and property valued at no more than $3,000 is thoroughly bad. It puts a discount on thrift by making those who save provide for the wants of the environment.

Those who support the bill argue that an old age pension system is more economical and more humanitarian than to keep them in almshouses. This argument is not convincing.

Old age pensions would be a much greater burden on the productive class than is taxed. And in the second place, the present day system of inspection of county infirmaries makes inhumanitarian treatment of inmates impossible.

The greatest evil to this sort of legislation is the effect it would have in removing the incentive to same for old age. With their wants in old age assured, many would make no effort to provide for their wants when they were no longer able to earn a living.

The pension system in England has proved the fallacy of such a scheme. Instead of helping the situation growing out of the war, it caused more unemployment and defeated the very purpose for which it was created.

An old age pension system would do that very thing in Indiana. It is thoroughly bad and the bill ought to be defeated.

WASHINGTON—Few think of Congress in terms of religion. The public mind, in fact, more frequently connects our legislators with irreligious than with religious matters.

As a matter of fact, however, the big majority in both House and Senate is of men who not only maintain church affiliations but who are consistent church goers. Congress has its full share of deacons, elders and even lay preachers.

The Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which works actively with Congress in lobbying for measures designed to uplift national sobriety and morals, is preparing a card index of the next Congress which is designed to reveal the religious status of all members.

To date, all but 10 of the 531 members of House and Senate have been listed. Of the 531 members so cataloged, less than 10 per cent, or just 45, do not claim membership in any church. Of these, 35 are members of the House, 10 of the Senate.

Eighteen separate creeds are represented. The Methodists lead the list, with 90 representatives and 27 senators—about one-fifth of the House and more than one-fourth of the Senate.

Second come the Episcopalians,

with 79, of which 57 are in the House, 22 in the Senate.

The Presbyterians outnumber the Episcopalians in the House, with 63, but fall into third place because of their small representation in the Senate, there being but 11 Presbyterian senators. Baptists rank fourth in numbers, Roman Catholics fifth and Congregationalists sixth.

Utah provides the entire Mormon strength of three. Brigham Young's church claiming both Senators, Smith and King and Representative Don B. Colton.

Capitol of Kansas is the one Quaker stronghold in the Senate but there are three Quakers in the House.

The true Christian Scientist in Congress is Laurence H. Warren of Pennsylvania.

The mechanical nag on which the president goes for his daily canter presents a picturesque and tangible subject to which can be hitched a varied line of suggestions, both in picture and prose. The chances are that the Coolidge "hobby" horse will become historic.

LIONS CLIP WINGS OF THE BLUEBIRDS

Rushville High School, Using Many Players, Defeats Carthage Here Friday Night, 53 to 28

HEAVY OFFENSIVE STARTS

Carthage Also Presents Shifted Line-up in Beginning—Fouling Frequent, 2 Players Going Out

By FRANKLIN MULLIN

After playing on even terms with the Carthage high school basketball team for the greater part of the first half, the Rushville basket tossers with two of their number, Cherry and Osborne, nursing injuries and sickness, finally hit their stride and trounced the Bluebirds, 53 to 28. The Carthage crew showed classy basketball at times but was unable to keep up with the pace that the Lions were setting, although the latter team was playing below standard.

The Lions missed many easy under-the-basket shots and during the first ten minutes they managed to hit the net just enough to keep on even terms with the fighting Carthage crew.

For the second straight time, Coach John Swain started his "emergency squad," shifting Lakin to forward with Newbold, and putting Davison in his place, thus giving the Lions a "heavy offensive." Arbuckle filled McNamara's shoes at running guard while Miller held down his regular position at base guard.

Carthage also presented a shifted line-up. Renegar, the big back-guard, was shifted to center and Siler, regular floor guard, was sent to the bench.

Carthage started the contest off fast when Sharkey, the big back-guard, rushed through for a field goal. Newbold scored on a long shot next and he was followed close by Arbuckle with a similar shot. Miller fouled but Alexander missed his throw and Renegar fouled but Davison missed his throw. The Carthage crew was not hitting the basket, having missed several close shots up to this time.

Field goals from Tetrick and Renegar in the next few minutes of play put the Carthage crew in the lead by two points but Newbold tied it up when he dribbled down the floor for one of his under-the-basket shots. Alexander slipped in a beautiful shot and Rushville called time with the score 6 to 8 against them. Wainwright went in for Davison and Lakin was shifted to center.

Then Rushville opened up and goals by Newbold, Lakin and Arbuckle forced Carthage to call for time. At this point of the game Siler went in for Alexander with only ten minutes of the half remaining. During the remainder of the half the teams battled on even terms, during which time McNamara went in for Wainwright and Arbuckle was shifted to forward. Just as the half ended Sharkey fouled Newbold and the Rushville forward counted the free throw only to have it taken away from him because Wainwright was three feet over the line. The half ended 24 to 17 with Rushville on the long end.

In the second period the Carthage crew started off fast when Heim scored twice from the field in short notice. Davison was sent in for Lakin, who was playing in bad luck. Wainwright scored from the foul line once in two shots when Tetrick fouled him and Newbold, Miller and Davison followed him with field goals. Siler was taken out and Alexander took his place. Davison then put the ball through the net, giving Rushville 33 to Carthage's 21. Renegar fouled Miller and the Rushville player scored his free throw. Wainwright next scored from the foul line when Tetrick fouled him.

Renegar again fouled and Davison made both of his shots. Siler was sent into the game again by Carthage and Heim scored on a long shot from the side. Siler and the Rushville guards did not seem to agree with each other for Miller fouled the Carthage player. In the first half McNamara had fouled Siler twice in succession, for which the Rushville floor guard was taken out of the game.

Tetrick committed his fourth personal when he fouled Wainwright and he was banished from the game. Wainwright scored on both of his free throws. Pearson took Tetrick's place. Then Rushville spatted and ran the score up to 45 with Carthage trailing at 24 before the Bluebirds called time.

Upon resuming play, Rushville

Says Mandell is Real Champ

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Feb. 21—No title was at stake officially when Sammy Mandell and Sid Terris met recently in New York, but Mandell, as the winner, was generally accepted as being the logical successor to Benny Leonard as the world's lightweight champion. There is only one way his claim to the championship can be disputed and that is by inviting him to fight it out.

Mandell and Terris were admitted to be the class of the contenders that were listed by the New York Boxing Commission to compete in the elimination tournament that was planned as the means of finding Leonard's successor.

Mandell, Terris and Johnny Dundee, former featherweight champion pulled out of the tournament, however, and they took with them most of the prestige that the commission hoped the winner of the tournament would gain.

Both Mandell and Terris were willing to compete in the tournament, but the commission wouldn't.

ran their score up to 53 on three field goals from Davison and one from Newbold. Just before the gun sounded Siler connected for his only field goal in the game, giving Carthage their twenty-six points.

Fifteen fouls were committed by the two teams and Carthage although the game was not rough, it was very fast at times.

The first combination that was sent in for Rushville did considerably well. It is evidently a good scoring machine. Newbold was star scorer for Rushville with eight field goals. He had two shots from the foul line, but was cheated out of one while he missed the other. Davison also played a good game for Rushville after he got started. He scored twenty points. Arbuckle made a fine showing at his old position at forward guard, connecting for four baskets, two of which were long shots. He was switched to forward several times when a substitution was made.

Lakin had an off night getting only three baskets. He missed several easy shots. Miller got three baskets from the field. Heim was the best scorer for Carthage, with five field goals. Lineup and summary: Rushville 53 Carthage 26
Newbold F. Alexander
Lakin F. Heim
Davison C. Renegar
Arbuckle G. Tetrick
Miller G. Sharkey
Substitutions: Rushville: Wainwright, McNamara. Carthage: Siler, Pearson, W. Siler. Field goals: Newbold 8, Lakin 3, Davison 5, Arbuckle 4, Miller 3, Alexander, Siler, Heim 5, Renegar, Tetrick 2, Sharkey. Foul goals, Davison 2, Wainwright 4, Miller, Siler 4; Referee Bills, Umpire, Parker.

CUBS WIN AGAIN

The Rushville second team easily defeated the Indiana Soldiers and Sailors Home team of Knights-town in the curtain raiser, 45 to 23. The Cubs were not slow in getting started and soon were far ahead of their opponents. Carmel, Wainwright and Newbold seemed to have their basket eye, and they sunk the ball from all angles of the floor.

The first half ended with Rushville ahead, 23 to 11. In the second period Rushville continued the onslaught and was never headed, although a foul goal in the last minute of play by Mayo prevented them from doubling the score on the home boys.

Wainwright was the chief scorer for the locals with seven field goals, and Blue was the best and fastest on his feet for the home team. Mayo connected for several long shots during the game.

Lineup and summary: Rushville 45 I. S. S. H. Team
Wainwright F. Baker
Newbold F. Blue
Carmel C. Mayo
Winkler G. Wertz
Readle G. Innis

Substitutions: Rushville, Elliott, Caldwell; Carthage, Campbell, Cost. Field goals: Wainwright 7, Caldwell, Newbold 4, Carmel 5, Winkler, Readle, Blue 4, Mayo 3, Wertz, Foul goals, Wainwright 2, Caldwell 2, Newbold 2, Carmel, Blue 3, Mayo 4. Referee, Tiltworth. Acton, 27; Warren Central, 23.

RALEIGH TOURNEY

Fountain City, 32; Rushville MVA, 31.

Fairview A. C., 58; Alquina 7; Bentonville, 6; Harrisburg 4.

New Salem 34; Arlington 22. The Independent sectional basketball tourney got under way Friday night at Raleigh with four games being played, and of the thirteen entries, four were eliminated last night, including the Modern Woodman team of Rushville, Alquina, Harrisburg and Arlington.

The games continued today, and a winner will be picked tonight in the final game, to go to the state tourney at Indianapolis. In the game that opened the tourney, the Rushville team lost out by one point, 32 to 31. The first half saw them ahead, 15 to 12, but in the closing minute of play the Fountain City team forged in for a goal.

The next two games were one-sided, with Fairview downing Alquina 58 to 7, holding a 29 to 0 score at the half. Bentonville took Harrisburg 60 to 4, and the half ended 31 to 3. The last game of the night was a good one, in which New Salem defeated Arlington, 34 to 22. The first half was 14 to 12.

A good crowd was on hand to witness the games. Before the final game tonight the Raleigh high school will play the Webb high school as a curtain raiser.

The line-up and summary of the game in which the local team played is as follows:

Fountain City 32 Rushville MVA 31

ARLINGTON HIGH PROVES TOO MUCH FOR MANILLA

Invaders Take Home Long End of 31 to 22 Score, Although Behind at Half

KENNEDY CONNECTS FOR 7

Arlington high school proved to be too much for Manilla Friday night at Manilla, and the final count was 31 to 22. The first half ended with Manilla ahead 12 to 10, but in the last half, Arlington went in the lead.

Kennedy was the star basket shot for Arlington and made 7. Fair and Brown for Manilla were the point getters. Arlington started with a changed line-up and substituted before the game was over.

The line-up and summary:

Arlington 31 Manilla 22
Price F. Hester
Woods F. Fair

- 2—The "EASY" is attractive and sanitary because it is made entirely of metal—there is nothing to warp. There are no corners, seams or crevices in the round smooth tank to collect dirt. The smooth polished surfaces inside and outside are easy to keep clean and sanitary. Is dependable and built to give years of satisfaction and service.
- 3—Winger, with aluminum frame swings to four positions and enables operator to wring clothes while washing. Equipped with instantaneous safety release. Extra wide spread between rolls when released. All gears are safely enclosed—no exposed mechanism at any part of the machine. The aluminum frame will not warp or bend, as it does not absorb water. It is sanitary and easy to keep clean.
- 4—Extreme simplicity makes it easy to operate and care for. The large open tank is convenient for putting in and taking out the clothes. Tank can be filled and emptied by hose connection or piping. No heavy parts to lift, therefore, it is within woman's strength to operate.
- 5—The "EASY" is fully equipped ready for immediate service. To start machine it is only necessary to fasten plug at end of motor cord into electric light socket or service outlet, and turn on current at the switch.
- 6—With the "Easy" there is less fuss getting started and less cleaning up after the washing is completed. Every owner of an "EASY" is proud of it.
- 7—THE NEW GAS HEATER. As will be seen from illustration, the gas heater swings out from under tank, making it easy to light without stooping or reaching under tank. After lighting, it swings under tank and heats the water, maintaining an even temperature while washing. When washer is not in use, the heater can be lifted out of socket and hung on wall out of the way, without detaching hose connection. It can be suspended from a bracket attached to the wall, and serve the same purpose as a gas stove in the laundry for heating water, starch, flatirons, and many other things. Heater has both air and gas adjustments making it adaptable for both artificial and natural gas. Patents applied for.

Washington Also First In Love

After Marriage He Warns Against Flirtation

Had George Washington been less the dignified fighting patriot that he was, he might well have been called the daddy of all sheiks as well as the father of his country.

The many stories of his loves, some true, and some most assuredly gossip, all agree at one point.

That is that Washington, after marriage, was perhaps the most contented great man in history, and that there never was a domestic rifle in the 40 years of his wedded life with Martha Curtis.

It has been more than hinted that his rich experience in affairs of the heart led him after marriage to write his immortal advice to his adopted daughter, Nelly Curtis, when she was 16.

"It would be no great departure from the truth to say that it rarely happens otherwise than that a thoroughbred coquette dies in celibacy as a punishment for her attempts to mislead others by engaging looks, words or actions, given for no other purpose than to draw men on to make overtures that they may be respected."

When he was 16, he wrote a poem to a young girl whose name long since has been lost, telling of the "hurt of the heart, incurable."

From that time forward there are many entries in his diary which would show that his affairs of the heart were not infrequent.

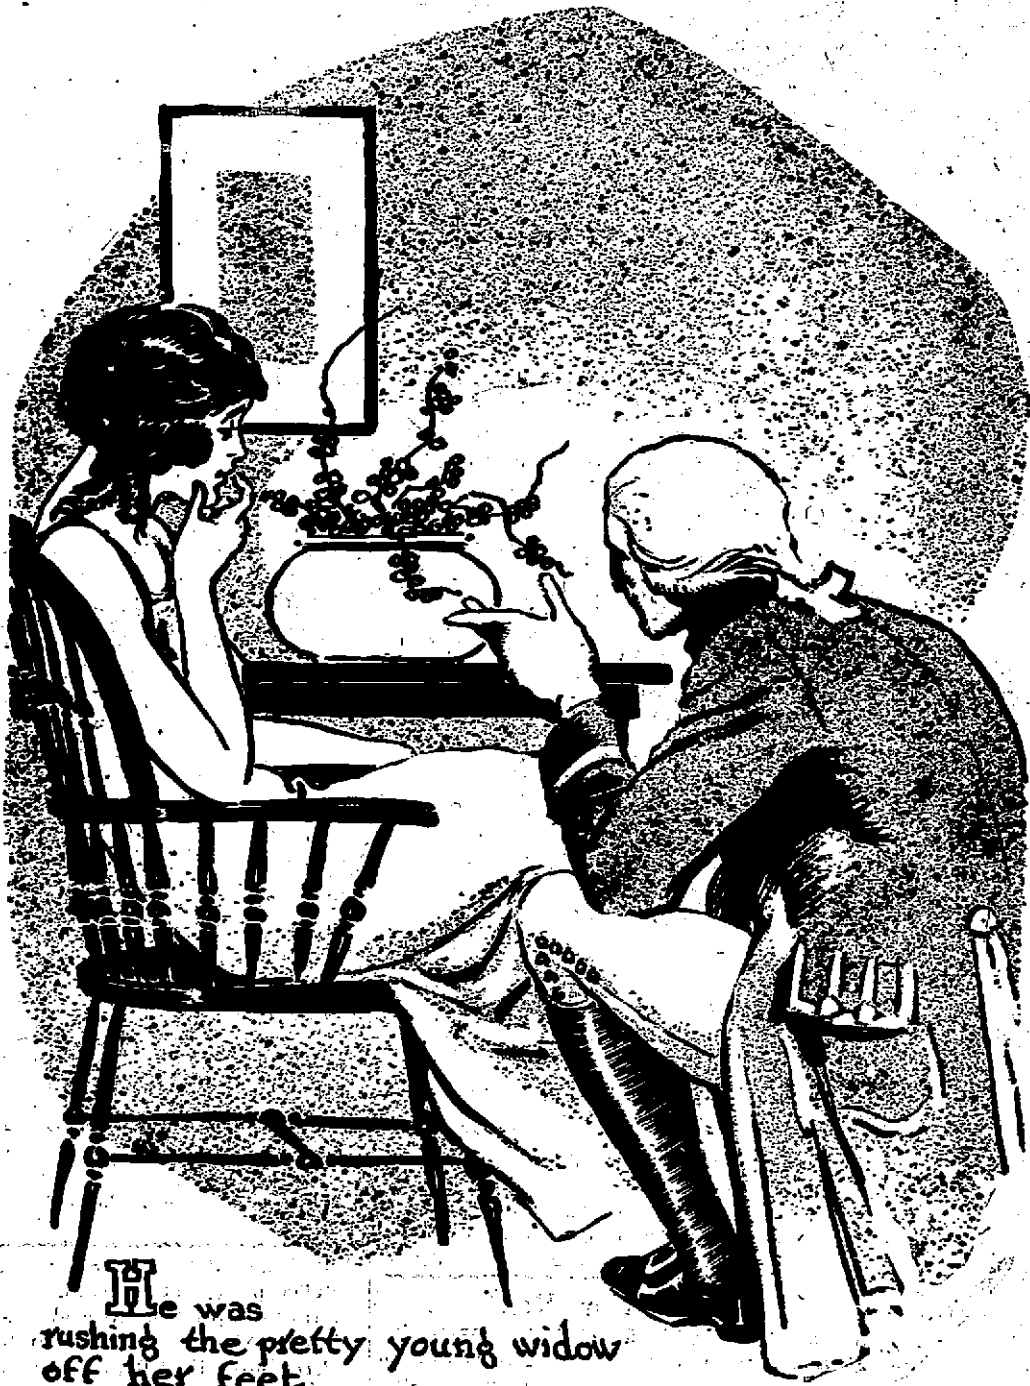

He tells one incident of interest to many present day-lovers. On his first western trip, carrying a message into the French lines, he called on an Indian princess, Aliquippa.

He records in his journal that he presented her with a blanket and a bottle of rum, and adds, "which latter was thought much the best present of the two."

Only recently his platonic love affair with Sally Cary Fairfax, wife of his best friend, George William Fairfax, has been revealed through studies of E. E. Prussing, an author.

She was the belle of Belvoir. He was a cad at the house. His affection developed through her prodding him into even greater interest in literature and history, was only revealed in the after in a letter written on the eve of a military campaign.

One of his most serious romances before the one that was to fill his

Washington never had met Mrs. Curtis and was persuaded to visit the house. He left his body servant Bishop, outside, intending to continue his journey in a few moments.

But evening drew on, and still he did not return. He was what nowadays would be called "rushing the pretty young widow."

From the time of their meeting, no other woman had the power to charm Washington. He continued his journey next day, but on completion of his mission returned at once to visit the charming widow.

In May 1758, he enters an item, "one engagement ring, 2 pounds 16 shillings," but as Curtis had not been dead a year announcement of the engagement was delayed.

The following January 17 the marriage was solemnized.

He was rushing the pretty young widow off her feet entire life was that with Mary Phillips, sister of Mrs. Beverly Robinson, who lived in New York.

She was more than attentive to him. His heart responded to the attention from an older woman, for so she was, but while Mary Phillips admired him she did not love him, and unmistakably turned him down.

Two years afterward she married Colonel Roger Morris, but Washington had become engaged to Martha Curtis.

While Washington was hastening to Williamsburg to lay before the governor and council of Virginia matters relating to the march of the British against Duquesne, he met a planter named Chamberlayne who was entertaining Mrs. Daniel Parker Curtis.

SUFFERED TWO YEARS

Finally Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Says Mrs. Anderson

Rangley, Maine. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me greatly for bearing-down pains in the sides and back, headaches and tired feelings. I suffered for two years and it seemed as though I could not get my work done from one day to the next. After reading letters from others who had taken the Vegetable Compound I decided to try it and now I can do all kinds of work, sewing, washing, ironing and sweeping. I live on a farm and have five in the family so am busy most of the time. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and hope my letter will help some one to take your medicine." — Mrs. WALTER E. ANDERSON, Box 270, Rangley, Maine.

Over 200,000 women have so far replied to our question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

was the D. A. R. banquet given Friday evening at the Social Club rooms. A delicious chicken dinner was served to one hundred and twenty-eight guests, including the following out-of-town guests: Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Strong and daughter of Indianapolis, Miss Elizabeth Tuller of Detroit, Mich., and Miss Rhodes. The banquet tables were very attractively adorned in miniature cherry trees, suggestive of George Washington's birthday, with chrysanthemum sticks and red candles. The place cards were adorned with sprays of cherries and a miniature log.

Following the banquet a splendid program was given consisting of the following numbers: two colonial solos in costume, Mrs. C. E. Walden; reading, Helen Louise Bitner; solo in costume, Mrs. Neff Ashworth; "Powder Puff" dance, Bonnie Jean Beale; and reading, Helen Louise Bitner. The second part of the program consisted of a one act play entitled, "The Birthday Ball." The characters were Mrs. C. E. Walden, Olive Logan, Carolyn Wilson, Judith Mauzy, Helen Gray and Mrs. Earl Moore. Mrs. Hugh Mauzy was the accompanist on the piano for Mrs. Walden and Mrs. George Hogsett played the accompaniment for Mrs. Ashworth and Bonnie Jean Beale.

The banquet was pronounced by members of the organization to have been the best and most enjoyable social function ever given by the D. A. R.'s of this city.

and maintenance. All of the inquiry is centered on the motor transport division which had charge of the disposal of nearly $10,000,000 worth of surplus war materials sent to the Indiana highway department by the war department at Washington. The disposal of this vast store of war materials has been investigated by the state board of accounts and the information obtained has been turned over to the Marion county grand jury. Delay of the grand jury to return a report on the subject prompted this legislative inquiry.

While sub-committees have been at work during the week on the appropriation measure and the investigations, the house and senate have been pushing with greater vigor into the enormous amount of work that has piled up. Efforts of Speaker Leslie and Lieutenant Governor Van Orman have been redoubled in pushing action on pending legislation with the result that more than 100 bills have been passed, killed or withdrawn during the week.

As many of the authors of minor bills are beginning to be uneasy about their passage it is likely that both houses will swing into night session next week. During the last two weeks of the session day and night sessions are possible because of the slowing down in new bill presentation and, therefore a lessening of committee work.

Aside from the appropriation bill and the three companion measures backed by the administration for the purpose of expanding the budget control to all departments and merging state funds, the most important bills pending at the close, of the sixth week of the session are:

The Moorhead measure to place buses under the regulation of the public service commission. Passed the senate.

The Cann bill to increase gasoline tax from 2 to 3 cents. Passed the senate.

The co-operative marketing bill. Passed the House.

Three bills introduced at the request of the Republican state committee—one providing for the use of primary election polls as the basis for registration; another amending the absent voters law to prevent its abuse and a third designed to give women a legal standing in the party organizations.

Attica—The Fountain county jail is empty again. The last two prisoners, Ora Ratcliff, having been released and Charles E. Martin, taken to the penal farm.

"Ten Commandments" Today

"The Ten Commandments", Cecil B. DeMille's superb dramatic spectacle, which is being presented by Adolph Zukor and Jesse L. Lasky at the Princess Theatre today, is an adroit combination of ancient splendor and modern melodrama. The introductory scenes show the flight of the Children of Israel from Egypt and the receiving of the Commandments by Moses. The later scenes reveal modern life in San Francisco. The theme of the historical narrative is carried forward over the intervening three thousand years and the fact is forcibly shown that the fundamental laws are as inescapable today as in the far distant past.

"The Early Bird", Castle

At the Castle Theatre today, motion picture lovers will again be thrilled and cocked with laughter at the ever-clever Johnny Hines, whose screen characterizations of late have made him one of the most popular idols in screen land. Johnny is now giving a thoroughly appreciable account of himself in an ingeniously humorous comedy drama entitled "The Early Bird" which taken far and large, is a real hit. This clever screen comedian is at his best in this production, for the action carries him into the most amusing situations that bring continual scales of laughter. The audience is kept on edge throughout the full six reels, for coincident with the clean comedy vein, is a plot rich in melodramatic and thrilling moments, which aside from the star gives Sigrid Henning, Edmund Breese and Wyndham Standing untold opportunities to portray some of the finest bits of acting we have seen in this city in some time. These players have apparently been greatly interested in their work for each of them actually appears to live his or her part on the screen. There is little attempt at acting. The characters perform their parts as if they lived each scene—and how well they accomplish their ends is to be witnessed by the hearty applause that "The Early Bird" was given during and at the end of the performance.

Drama was at its height in the world war when Lieut.-Col. Charles Whittlesey commanding the Lost Battalion, is reputed to have told the German forces to "go to hell". Whittlesey's defiance came in answer to the enemy's demand that he surrender his position. It is portrayed in faithful detail in the film "The Lost Battalion" which is to be shown at Princess Theatre Monday and Tuesday for the benefit of the Legion.

day and Tuesday for the benefit of the Legion.

Colonel Whittlesey and Captain George McMurtry read the letter which was delivered by one of their own men who had been captured. It had been penciled by Lieutenant Heinrich Prinz of the German army, who before the war had spent six years in Seattle. The German officer appealed to the Americans to surrender on the grounds of humanity saying that the means of the suffering Americans in the Argonne "pocket" could be heard in the enemy lines, that further resistance was vain and that rescue was impossible.

HIGH SCHOOL REFLECTOR

THE RALEIGH SCHOOL

JUNIOR CLASS

Please patronize our lyceum course, which will be given by "The Poets," Thursday evening, February 26 at the gym.

Several of the high school pupils attended a Valentine party at the home of Thelmer White Saturday night, Feb. 14. The party was given by the senior class.

The senior class have ordered their commencement invitations. The commencement will be April 23.

The school orchestra will furnish music at the Farmer's meeting Thursday night.

Prizes were awarded Tuesday to pupils of the sixth grade who made the best maps of the United States. Hollis Johnson received the first prize, which was a blue ribbon and Odie Whitton received a second prize, which was a red ribbon.

HOMER SCHOOL

Editor, FRIEDA EDMONDSON

You haven't heard from us for quite a while but, anyway we are still progressing as fast as ever.

In the meantime Mrs. Brown has resigned. We were sorry to see her leave but we welcome in her place, Miss Whitton. Welcome, Miss Whitton, welcome.

The freshman class is proving successful in the study of English. They have been making "Good English" posters for the benefit of the entire school. We want to get rid of "Old Slang" and use "Good, Pure English."

Our Parent-Teachers association is also proving successful. Tuesday night, February 17, a play entitled "How the Story Grew" was given at the Parent-Teacher's meeting. It certainly was a "scream."

Mable Wagoner, a pupil of the Freshman class, won third prize in high school music memory contest. Congratulations, Mable.

Girls, Are You Frail, Weak, Appetite Gone?

MISS HELEN EHRSAN

Muncie, Ind.—"I was completely broken-down in health. I suffered with my back, pain in my side, and headaches. I had scarcely any appetite and I was very nervous. Finally began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and a few bottles restored me to health. I gained thirty-five pounds in weight and went from eighty-five to a hundred and twenty. 'Favorite Prescription' made me stout and happy and I am delighted to recommend it."—Miss Helen Ehlsan, 815 S. Penn St.

Why not get this Prescription today from your druggist; or write Dr. Pierce, President of the Invalids' Hotel, in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice, or send 10c for a trial pkg. of tablets.

The seventh grade geography "Travel Club" is getting along nicely. They have chosen up sides and are having a contest in knowing and spelling the countries and capitals of Europe. As yet we don't know who the winner will be.

I think we are improving some in music. We are taking sight reading and still working on the Music Memory contest.

KINGS SCHOOL

The Juniors entertained the Assembly Tuesday with the following program: An original poem containing a stanza concerning each class, the teachers and school was read by Naomi Nash. A play entitled "The Train to Mauro", was given with the following characters participating: Mrs. Battermilk, an old lady from the country, Helen Kennedy; Mr. Knight, a railroad agent, Clyde Gordon; Johnny, a small boy, Abbie Eakins. The final number was a parody on the song, "Sitting in A Corner" sung by the Junior class.

LATIN CONTEST

The local school latin contest which was held last Friday entitled the following students to enter the county contest: first division, Donald Rees and Jesse Eckart; Caesar division, Helen Bingham and Mildred McMillin; Cicero division, Helen Kennedy and Naomi Nash.

LATIN CLUB

The Inter Nos club met Wednesday night at the home of Clara Corner. After the business session the following program was given prepared by Mildred McMillin and Helen Bingham: song, America, talk, "Food and Meals of the Romans," Clyde Gordon; duet, Clara Corner and Helen Kennedy. Closing song G. G. G. Gaia.

The following poem was written by a Sophomore in an English assignment for original poems.

Woodrow Wilson

We all admire a manly man,
Who stood so pure to see,
Who could endure such a one?
Surely not you or me.
Who held the Nation's honor high
Before a war torn world,
Who always looked with loving eye
When the dear old flag unfurled.
Who seldom had a word of praise
But many hours of pain
Until the time the dead arise
We'll never see his like again.

NEW SALE

Our Parent-Teacher's meeting was well attended last Tuesday night. The following program was rendered.

Meeting called to order by Walter Norris, President.

Music by High School orchestra. Recitation by Mary Lois Bricker Community singing.

Exercise from Mrs. Bell's room. Trombone solo by Howard Keisling.

Address by Paul Allen of Rushville. Recitation by Norma Dausche.

Exercise from Mrs. Belle's room. Talk by Supt. B. D. Farthing.

Music by the H. S. orchestra.

The talks were well enjoyed and Mr. Jinks was much complimented on the good music.

The mumps situation is improving, but there are yet many of the grade children out.

The basketball game with Orange was called off on account of the mumps.

The game with Milroy girls was called off too on account of sickness of the Father of Milroy's girls' coach.

CENTER SCHOOL

Tests have been given in nearly all of the classes this week.

The Freshmen English class has completed the study of Irving's Sketch Book and has now begun the study of Shakespeare's Julius Caesar. The Sophomore class has completed Ashmun's "The Modern Short Story," and is now studying Pittenger's "The Short Story."

The Latin II class has completed the translation of Book two of Caesars Gallus war, and has begun work on Book III.

Lava Apple, who is attending Madame Blaker's school in Indianapolis visited our school last Friday.

LOCAL DELEGATION GOES ON GYM JAUNT

are elevated, permanently contracted, on all four sides, with six entrances. Beneath the elevated seats are class rooms, with ample space, and several vacant rooms that have not been fitted up. In these class rooms are the mechanical drawing classes, engineering and automobile mechanic classes, and the building in this manner is used every day, instead of for basketball purposes only.

The gymnasium at Bloomington, Indiana University, was inspected, merely to get some idea as to arrangements and interior designs, because the edifice itself could not be duplicated for less than $300,000.

The gymnasium at Columbus is the best looking building of any high school, and cost $107,000. The building is expensively finished, inside and out, with a swimming pool, and modern conveniences in the basement.

The playing floor is exceptionally good, and the seating arrangement also is good, but the general decision prevailed there, that it was not large enough for future needs, and is often times pushed now. It seats 3,000 people.

The various methods of financing the gymnasiums, and complete details concerning the various structures visited by the Rushville people, will be taken up in articles that are to follow.

The delegation Friday learned one thing. That the buildings in almost every community are not large enough. At two of the places visited, it was emphasized that a building should be large enough to accommodate the entire population. In Rushville, the officials and others interested will no doubt have plans drawn up for one to seat 5,000.

Those who made the trip Friday were John A. Tisworth, O. R. Zimmer, Chase P. Manzy, Will M. Sparks, John Wyatt, Warder Wyatt, Dr. Frank H. Green, John Swain, Louis Hiner, Walter W. Hubbard, Walter R. Thomas, H. B. Allman and E. R. Casady.
